France Strike-torn As Blum Becomes Premier

NEW MINISTRY AT PARIS TAKES OVER BIG TASK

Officials Estimate People on Strike Throughout France Total 500,000 as Leon Blum, Socialist, and His Popular Front Cabinet Succeeds Sarraut Administration; Newspapers in Paris Cease Publication and Many Rumors Spread

Associated Press

Paris, June 4.—The Third Republic called its first Socialist Premier—cultured, well-dressed Leon Blum—to take power today over a France chaotic with industrial strikes.

President Albert Lebrun charged the Socialist leader with the task of forming the 101st cabinet during the sixty-five years of the republic's history.

As M. Blum went to the Elysee Palace, with his tentative list of ministers already made up, France was in the midst of strikes which unofficially were estimated to involve approximately 500,000 workers.

Manufacturers declared the strikes were threatening to paralyze the nation's industry.

M. Blum was called to power within two hours after Premier Albert Sarraut and his coalition cabinet had resigned.

Factories Occupied

The strike movement was met suddenly by a refusal on the part of leaders of metal industries to conduct any further negotiations with strikers until the latter evacuate more than 200 factories.

Even as M. Blum moved to assume the premiership, reports in the Chamber lobbies had it he might order Communists to call off their strikes as soon as he became head of the government.

Former Premier Edouard Herriot was elected today as President of the new Chamber of Deputies.

No Newspapers

Wild rumors concerning the strikes and M. Blum's intentions flooded Paris because of a complete cessation in the publication of newspapers.

All employees of Paris newspapers went out on strike, with the result no afternoon newspapers appeared on the streets. Pickets were busy.

Only about ten morning papers, or less than half the total number, had appeared on news stands.

The power of the Popular Front government in the Chamber of Deputies was demonstrated by the ballot, which elected Herriot, a leader of the Radical-Socialists, to the chair. In support of Herriot, 378 votes were cast while Xavier Vallat, Rightist, received only 150.

The Communists declared: "The government will be sympathetic to labor and will introduce bills giving satisfaction to the strikers."

Shorter Army Service

Communists called for the reduction of military service and the "democratization" of the army to "put France in the front ranks of countries wanting peace."

Employers at the central markets in Paris yielded to the demands of strikers for pay increases.

Threats of a food shortage in the capital apparently were averted, but the metal industries development brought up a new, serious phase to the internal situation.

Striking ice and refrigerator plant workers who had threatened to imperil Paris meat and milk stores have settled their dispute with operators.

Cabinet Minister Marooned By Flood

Government speakers will have to campaign in Ontario under difficulties it became apparent today as flood waters tied up transportation in the northern part of the province. Hon. G. M. Weir, scheduled to open the campaign for the government at Burns Lake tomorrow night, has been marooned at McBride where his train was held up. Premier Pattullo and Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, who will leave Monday, planned today to go in by way of the P.G.E. Railway as the Prince Rupert route is blocked. They were waiting reports of road conditions to determine if the P.G.E. route would be feasible.

Dafoe and Robertson Are Invited to Visit Victoria

DR. ALLAN ROY DAFOE

"The Country Doctor," Who Watches Over Dionne Quintuplets, and Man, Who Was Trapped in Moose River Mine, May Attend Medical Convention

Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe and Dr. D. E. Robertson may visit Victoria at the end of the month.

Canada's most famous physicians have been sent letters of invitation to the Canadian Medical Association Convention which will open here on June 22 by Dr. Herman Robertson, president-elect of the association, according to an announcement made today.

Dr. Dafoe is the world's best-known country doctor and the Dionne quintuplets which he brought into the world two years ago and has cared for ever since are the greatest advertisement for Canadian medical men.

Dr. D. E. Robertson was a well-known child doctor in Toronto but was skyrocketed to world prominence by the Moose River Mine disaster. Strangely enough, these two leading lights in the medical profession of the Dominion graduated from the same university at the same time. They received their degrees at Toronto University in 1907.

Dr. Robertson chose the city, while the quiet, unassuming Dr. Dafoe, who preferred to sit in a corner with a pipe and a book according to (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

ADVANCE POLL OPENED TODAY

The official machinery of Victoria's federal by-election began to turn today when the advance poll opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Transportation men, commercial travelers and members of the permanent forces who cannot be in town polling day are permitted to cast their ballots ahead of time. The office at 206 Hibernia-Bone Building will remain open until 10 o'clock tonight and from 2 to 10 o'clock Friday and Saturday for this purpose. The general vote will be next Monday.

McDowell Supports Forest Protection And Road Campaign

Liberal Candidate Urges Safeguarding of Fine Timber Stands and Highway Development to Open Scenic Beauty Spots and Improve Local Trade

Vigorous support of a national park scheme, which would protect the island's forest wealth, and a strong claim for highway development which would open up such tracts and other centres to the public, not only as means of access to beauty spots, but as avenues of trade, were voiced by C. J. McDowell, Liberal candidate for Victoria in the federal by-election Monday, at yesterday evening's meeting of Ward Four Liberals in headquarters.

R. C. Lowe occupied the chair at the meeting, which was addressed by Cleve G. White, A. M. Aitken and M. B. Jackson, K.C., as well as Mr. McDowell.

Mr. McDowell expressed his pleasure at hearing a previous speaker urge the protection of the island's natural resources in timber as tourist attractions.

He regretted the roads that led to the splendid forests were "mere trails" and said he saw no reason why the island should not secure real highways like those of the United States through a larger share of governmental expenditure.

The main requirement before Victoria today was one calling for a concerted demand for work to relieve the unemployment here, he said.

The time had come, he declared, for the people of Victoria to decide what they wanted and work for it. LUMBER ISSUE

Referring to the lumber issue, Mr. McDowell related details concerning Premier King's action in regaining the Japanese market and reopening trade in the same commodity to the United States. He showed how duties applied by the Bennett government against the latter country had resulted in the quadrupling of the lumber duty on Canadian timber.

FROM LONDON IN SIX DAYS

A week ago yesterday Major W. H. MacKenzie was in London. Today he was in Victoria on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George MacKenzie, of 1422 Gladstone Avenue, and his brothers, Rowan MacKenzie and Goldie MacKenzie.

He crossed the Atlantic of the maiden voyage of Ss. Queen Mary and crossed the continent by airplane. But he was not traveling all the time. He spent a day and a night in Toronto.

Asked what he thought of the Queen Mary, Major MacKenzie said: "She's the best ever. There's absolutely no vibration. There was a large passenger list—over 2,000—but the ship is so large you could never find anyone."

Major MacKenzie was the first passenger to reach Victoria from the Queen Mary. He is believed to have made the fastest passage between the English metropolis and this city. If he had not stopped over in Toronto he would have been here on Tuesday.

FOG DELAYS HER

"I think the Queen Mary can break the Atlantic record any time she wants to," Major MacKenzie said. "I think she'll do it on her return trip, which she starts tomorrow. She would have done it this time if it had not been for twelve hours of fog. Her best day's run was 766 miles, compared with the Normandie's 727 miles."

The traveler commented on the great reception New York gave the mammoth liner. It was wonderful, he said.

Major MacKenzie was last here three years ago. He will remain with his parents about a month before starting back to England.

He was greeted by members of his family as he stepped ashore from the Ss. Princess Kathleen at 12:45 o'clock today. He left Chicago by plane yesterday evening and reached Seattle this morning.

Lieut.-Governor Luncheon Guest

Hon. Eric W. Hamber, newly-appointed Lieut.-Governor of British Columbia, will make his first public appearance in Victoria when he addresses members of the Men's Canadian Club at luncheon tomorrow at 12:15 o'clock in the Empress Hotel. Following his address, His Honor will informally meet members of the club. Tickets are available from John Cochrane, 1307 Douglas Street. Those who will attend the luncheon are asked to make their reservations before 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to facilitate catering arrangements.

Workmen Battle to Save Caisson of Big Bridge at New Westminster; While Floods in Upper Reaches of Rivers Are Easing, Damage Continues to Mount in Coastal Region

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 4.—As scores of volunteer workers, their hands blistered from hours of incessant labor, today fought an almost certain losing battle against waters of the Fraser River in an attempt to save the dikes that guard the rich farm lands of southeastern British Columbia, word came that the flood had claimed its first victim near Prince George when Andre Ekman, Canadian National lineman, fell into the Fraser and was swept away.

Dikes at Hammerley Prairie, sixty miles from Vancouver, and at Chilliwack, farther up the swollen Fraser, gave way as the earth crumbled before the crushing pressure of the stream. All families moved from Hammerley.

Farmers moved livestock and what belongings they could carry from their homes in the threatened areas. The highway was flooded today from west to Cottonwood corner near Sardis.

AT BRIDGE SITE

A twenty-four-hour battle against the flood at New Westminster to save caisson No. 4 of the new Fraser River bridge appeared more hopeful today. Hundreds of tons of rock were dropped at its base to stop erosion and the contracting company today stated the structure had straightened up slightly. Yesterday it had a thirty-degree list.

The well-known Harrison Hot Springs Hotel at Harrison Hot Springs was surrounded by water and the boiler-room was flooded.

The gauge at Mission today registered 22.34 feet, a rise of close to eight inches overnight.

Atchells on the Agassiz side of the Fraser River is under water. The Harris Hills district has been completely evacuated and families taken to Camp 226 on Harrison Mountain.

AGASSIZ ISOLATED
Agassiz has been isolated by highway since yesterday when the Public Works Department ordered the road closed east of the Harrison River.

Thousands of sandbags have been used in an attempt to strengthen the weakened dike and today an airplane flew over from Chilliwack with an additional 1,000 sacks.

Yesterday twenty-two families moved out of the area south and east of Agassiz and six more were to move out today.

At Chilliwack several dikes had been washed away and about two and a half miles of the highway, between the Chilliwack and Sumas dikes, was under several feet of water.

Bruce Dixon, dike inspector at New Westminster, said the government dike at Sumas prairie was still holding.

Twelve families in the flooded area between the Chilliwack and Sumas dikes were forced to evacuate their homes and move to higher ground during the night.

EASIER UP-RIVER

The Dominion Hydrometric Bureau here reported the rise is slackening at most points up the Fraser and Thompson Rivers.

At Spence's Bridge the gauge registered twenty-three feet, a gain of three-tenths of a foot in the Thompson River, which flows into the Fraser at Lillooet. The reading was forty-four feet, a gain of eight-tenths. These readings indicate the level of the lower Fraser will continue to rise.

COLUMBIA RISES

The Columbia River is rising slightly at Trail, where today's reading was 37.7 feet, seven inches above yesterday's. At Revelstoke the Columbia had begun to recede.

The gauge in the Fraser River at Prince George today registered 21.5 feet, a drop of three inches from yesterday. The weather was dry and warm.

Goodwill Blooms Refused in City

A goodwill gesture between Port Townsend and Victoria ran into difficulties today as customs officials refused entry of rhododendrons to the city.

Mayor George Bangert of Port Townsend sent two large bunches of plants to Mayor David Leeming, but customs officials in Victoria disallowed their entry, such being illegal under special regulations regarding blooms.

An expression of thanks from Mayor Leeming accompanied the rhododendrons on their return journey across the Strait.

CHINESE MAY UNITE ARMIES

Nanking and Canton Discuss Union Against Japanese Aggression

Shanghai, June 4.—Emissaries of the Chinese Canton government sped northward today, official sources declared, to discuss with Nanking government officials proposals for a united Chinese war against "Japanese aggression."

Sources close to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, overlord of the Nanking administration, said the commander was awaiting elaboration of Canton proposals against Toki.

The proposal for a union of the two Chinese governments, reported by Japanese sources yesterday from Canton, riveted the nation's attention.

An autonomous movement in Fukien Province was declared to be still in a vague and undetermined state.

PROTECTION DESIRED

Foreign diplomatic officials in Tientsin, Shanghai and Peking, were reported conferring with military authorities in view of a possible emergency.

Foreign judges were inclined to believe there is a greater chance for an ultimate clash between China and Japan than a civil war between the north and south governments.

SECTION 98 SOON TO BE CHANGED

Ottawa, June 4.—A general bill amending the Criminal Code, including changes in Section 98, will be introduced in the House of Commons next week, Minister of Justice Lapointe announced today. He was replying to J. S. Woodworth, C.C.F. leader.

Baltusrol Golf Club, Springfield, N.J., June 4.—Cracking the course record for the second time during the first round of the United States open golf championship today, Lanky Ray Mangrum, professional from Dayton, Ohio, duplicated Paul Runyan's 69 and made it a two-way tie for the lead.

Baltusrol Golf Club, Springfield, N.J., June 4.—Blistering the incoming half of the Baltusrol course, diminutive Paul Runyan, the Arkansas-born professional from the Metropolis Club, White Plains, N.Y., fired a 35-34-69, three under par, today to take a one-shot lead in the first round of the United States open golf championship. He held out a 125-yard mashie-midie shot on the 692-yard eleventh, longest hole on the course, for an eagle three.

Runyan's electrifying performance, the best he has ever shown in this tournament, overhauled tall Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., professional, heavily-backed favorite, who set the early pace with a sub-par 70.

The former national P.G.A. champion gained a two-stroke margin over blonde Craig Wood, West Orange, (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

F. C. Brown of Vancouver, Addressing Manufacturers' Association at Quebec, Asks Eastern Canada to Take More Interest in Province

Canadian Press

Quebec, June 4.—The word "repudiation" has no place in the affairs of British Columbia, F. C. Brown of Vancouver told delegates to the annual convention of Canadian Manufacturers' Association here today.

"You have heard much in recent years regarding the financial position of British Columbia," said Mr. Brown, elected today as first vice-president of the association, "and I want to take this opportunity of saying the state of British Columbia finances should cause little concern to the rest of Canada.

"We are meeting our obligations, thanks to the wise and far-seeing methods of our provincial Finance Minister, and I can assure the world 'repudiation' has no place in British Columbia provincial affairs."

BOND CONVERSION

The province, he said, "awaits a favorable opportunity for conversion of our debts at lower rates of interest, but no unreasonable or drastic methods will be taken to accomplish this. British Columbia will continue a sound investment."

"There has been so much adverse publicity concerning western conditions, especially financial, that I felt a few facts concerning my own province might be helpful to a better understanding," Mr. Brown said.

In regard to the other western provinces, Mr. Brown stated, "we should all bear in mind the tremendous contribution these provinces

N.J. Ted Longworth, Portland, Ore., and Harry Cooper, Chicago, professional, all with 71.

Runyan, out in 35 with the aid of a birdie at the fifth, had a pair of deuces on the incoming round in addition to his eagle. He stuck his tee shot only three feet from the cup on the 158-yard tenth and dropped a twenty-two footer for his second deuce on the 140-yard fifteenth.

Meanwhile, among those in pursuit, Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N.J., one of the longest hitters in the professional ranks, set a new low mark of 33, three under par, for the outgoing nine.

Runyan's 69 clipped a stroke off the competitive record for the upper Baltusol course. The former mark of 70, which Picard equalled, was set last year by Craig Wood.

Johnny Revolta, bushy-haired professional champion from Chicago, joined Picard in a tie for second place. Revolta, who clipped two strokes off the outgoing par with a 34, shot regulation golf over the inward route for a 36 and a first round of 70.

PARKS HAS 76
Sam Parks, pink-checked Pittsburgh pro and defending champion, launched his bid to retain the championship won in succession by only three players, Willie Anderson, Johnny McDermott and Bobby Jones, with a 76.

Ghezzi, who blistered the first nine with a three-under-par 33, came back in 37 for a 70 and moved into a tie for second place with Picard and Revolta. Ghezzi became involved in traps at the tenth and thirteenth holes to dissipate his chance of evicting the pace-setting Runyan.

HOSPITAL PLAN TO GO AHEAD

Directors of Duncan Hospital
Decide to Build $30,000
Structure

Duncan, June 4.—Construction of a modern hospital building here has been definitely decided upon by the directors of the Cowichan District Hospital Association.

The plans have been approved by the provincial architect's department and final sanction is expected to be given at a general meeting of the hospital organization to be called shortly.

The project entails the removal of the older portion of the present hospital and erection of a larger and more modern unit in its place, the central portion of which will have two stories.

The estimated cost is placed at $30,000, one-third of which will be assured by government grant available on April 1, next year.

With the completion of the proposed work the Duncan hospital will have a total accommodation of eighty-five beds.

his valedictory in the college annual, took a country practice.

Little did he dream that one day he would become the most famous doctor in the world as he traveled in a sleigh or buggy to his patients in the far-flung northern district.

Then came the "miracle of nature" and the world watched anxiously as Dr. Dafoe fought to save the lives of the five tiny premature babies. All the weeks they were in the incubators news of the deaths of one or more of them was expected, but the country doctor pulled them through.

Today the quintuplets are the most famous babies in the world, just two years old, healthy and strong, all on account of this country practitioner, Dr. Dafoe.

Robertson is one of the outstanding members of the medical profession in Toronto. He is credited with having performed 30,000 operations in his children's hospital, but he would never have gained world-fame if it had not been for Moses River, out-of-the-way place in Nova Scotia.

Suddenly while he and two companions were 150 feet below the surface, there was a cave-in on the main shaft. An avalanche of earth and rocks poured down on top of them. They found the mine's papers to make a signal flare hoping that the smoke would rise to the surface.

It did and the gallant miners of Nova Scotia started to dig through and rescued them.

CONFEDERATION TERMS
Mr. Brown conceded British Columbia had a higher rate of income tax, personal and corporation, than any other province in Canada, but he said this was made necessary

"through the failure of the Dominion to live up to the terms under which the province entered into Confederation."

Right now, he said, British Columbia, per capita, stands first among all the provinces in manufacturing wealth. In manufacturing production per capita she stands second and in exports per capita she stands first.

INTEREST DESIRED
"British Columbia naturally feels the great provinces of Ontario and Quebec should take a keen interest in her case, if for no other reason than our extensive purchases of goods from those provinces, as British Columbia annually buys between $40,000,000 and $60,000,000 worth more from eastern Canada than she sells in that market."

"This is one of the reasons why I appeal to my fellow members of this national organization to take a greater interest in the economic and financial affairs of all the western provinces," Mr. Brown concluded.

Alleged Statement of Late Mrs. Theresa Small Read in Toronto Court

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 4.—The alleged confession of the late Mrs. Theresa Small, saying she was "more than any other person responsible" for the death of her husband, Ambrose J. Small, who disappeared mysteriously in 1919, was read in weekly court today before Mr. Justice A. C. Kingstons.

The so-called confession was presented on behalf of Florence Small, sister of the late A. J. Small, in her action to restrain distribution of the estate of Mrs. Theresa Small, who died some months ago.

Mr. Justice Kingstons dismissed the injunction sought, subject to an undertaking that the executors of Mrs. Small's estate will not distribute the estate and to an understanding they may take money to defend pending actions against it.

T. N. Phelan, K.C., on behalf of the executors, made the undertaking not to distribute the estate, entered for probate at about $2,000,000, Paul Hinds, acting for Miss Florence Small, sister of the late Toronto theatrical magnate, agreed to the order pending proceedings to be heard in surrogate court against the estate.

Mr. Hinds read to the court the alleged confession. It was signed "T. Small," and addressed to the Misses Florence and Gertrude Small, both sisters of the late Ambrose Small.

TEXT OF "CONFESSION"
As read by Mr. Hinds, the alleged confession said:

"I feel unwell, downhearted and lonely. I spend the most of my time in prayer and preparing my soul for a happy life with God after death."

"I received absolution from our Holy Father for the great sin I committed on December 2, 1919, but still I feel I should not leave this world to face my Eternal Father without telling you what happened to your brother."

"Poor Ambrose was killed on December 2, 1919, and I know that a part of his body, the trunk, was buried in the Rosedale Ravine dump, and other parts of the body were burned in the Grand Opera House furnace. You and I, my dear Florence and Gertrude, to learn that I am more than any other person responsible for your brother's death. God forgive me."

SAID MONEY PAID
"I will not cause any more pain to a living soul and that is why I will not reveal the names of those who are involved in this gruesome crime; but I will tell you one thing, it cost me plenty to keep their mouths shut."

"I am leaving the bulk of your brother's estate to those who are doing Christ's work on earth; they will always pray for the repose of our souls."

"I have told many untruths about you and Ambrose in court and I said unkind things in many unsigned letters which I have sent to you. I hope you will forgive me and your forgiveness will be pleasing to God."

"I request you in the name of Christ not to give the contents of this letter to any other person; leave the matter to him who sent it."

"This confession, which relieves my mind of a great burden, is typed by a very dear friend of mine, who will deliver it to you after my death."

"Forgive me, my dear Florence and Gertrude, and pray for the repose of my soul when I pass away."

"God bless you."
"Your loving sister," (Signed) "T. Small"

AFFIDAVITS QUOTED
Mr. Hinds then referred to affidavits made by Bert G. Browne and Patrick A. Small.

Browne attested that on or about November 20, 1929, Mrs. Small was admitted to the home of Miss Small at 525 Brunswick Avenue.

"I saw Mrs. Small sign a typewritten confession implicating herself in the murder of her husband," Browne attested.

Mrs. Small's will left most of the estate to the Roman Catholic Church and charitable institutions.

Congressman Reported Re-acting Satisfactorily to Rest; Mental Tests

Associated Press
Washington, June 4.—Dr. Edgar A. Boock, superintendent of Gallinger Municipal Hospital, indicated today that Representative Marion A. Zioncheck of Washington State might be released from the institution by the end of the week.

Reporting the Congressman from Seattle was reacting "satisfactorily" to rest and sleep in the institution—where he was committed for mental observation—Dr. Boock intimated an examination by psychiatrists today might conclude the case.

Zioncheck talked briefly with newsmen yesterday, expressing confidence he would win remission and re-election this fall.

The last to bob up as a possible contender was former Mayor Charles L. Smith of Seattle.

Smith—founder of the "Goofy Derby," the ice-cream kisser and the put-out-the-cat contest—revealed his framer are urging him to file as a republican candidate for Zioncheck's job.

GENEVA MEET LATE IN JUNE

League Assembly to Grapple With Problems Created By Italy and Ethiopia

Canadian Press From Havas
Geneva, June 4.—A special session of the League of Nations Assembly will be held here late in June. It was officially announced today.

The exact date for the meeting, involved at the formal request of Argentina, has not yet been fixed, but authoritative sources predicted the session would convene on June 29.

In this event, the League Council, originally scheduled to meet on June 16, will be delayed until June 26, in order its deliberations on the east African impasse and sanctions correspond more closely in time with the Assembly's session, these sources declared.

(In London, following a telephone conversation between Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Secretary-General Joseph Avenol of the League of Nations, it was said the extraordinary Assembly session would be convened June 26.)

CRUCIAL QUESTIONS
The Assembly is expected to study the crucial international problems provoked by Italy's annexation of Ethiopia.

Diplomatic sources in London today said the delay in the League sessions would allow representatives of Britain and France to attempt to devise some solution of the Ethiopian problem.

Death of Joseph W. Byrns,
U.S. House Chairman,
Widely Mourned

Associated Press
Washington, June 4.—Representative William B. Bankhead of Alabama today was elected Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, to succeed Joseph Wellington Byrns of Tennessee, who died shortly after last midnight.

Later a special United States House of Representatives committee announced the state funeral of the late Speaker Byrns would be held in the House chamber tomorrow at noon.

PRESIDENT MOURNS
President Roosevelt mourned his death as that of a steadfast friend of many years.

"Speaker Byrns belonged to that school of statesmen which is the hope and justification of our democracy," he said in a statement.

The President ordered all flags on government buildings at half staff, including that over the White House. He also canceled today's cabinet meeting and all other engagements for the day.

The passing of Speaker Byrns threw deep uncertainty about the hopes of his colleagues to end the current session with the next four days.

Mr. Byrns, who was in his sixty-seventh year, was stricken by a heart attack about 5.30 yesterday afternoon. Dr. George W. Calver, the congressional physician, who attended him, reported that at 11 p.m. he suffered a cerebral hemorrhage. He died at 12.15 a.m.

Speaker Byrns was at his accustomed post in the House during yesterday. He showed no signs of illness, nor did those close to him report any inkling that he was ill. He returned to his apartment at the Mayflower Hotel here in mid-afternoon, shortly after it was decided to adjourn the House then out of respect to Representative A. Platt Andrew, Massachusetts Republican, who died in his home state Tuesday night.

Mr. Byrns himself followed in sudden death the passing of his predecessor, Speaker Henry Rainey of Illinois.

Power as speaker of the national House of Representatives came to Joseph W. Byrns when the seventy-fourth Congress convened January 3, 1935. Back of him was a full quarter century as a member of the house from the "Horn" district of Tennessee, a tenure which saw him go through a dozen successful political campaigns and which brought him chairmanship of the House appropriations committee, leadership of the Democratic majority and head of the Democratic congressional campaign committee.

BORN ON FARM
Mr. Byrns was born on a farm near Cedar Hill in Tennessee, July 20, 1869. He was the eldest of six children and through much of his boyhood attended a rural school. Later his parents went to Nashville so the children could have better schooling.

After leaving high school, Byrns entered Vanderbilt University, earning his tuition by working in the tobacco fields during vacations. He took an academic course for two years, then switched to law school and graduated with the degree of LL.B. in 1890. After one more summer of farm life he hung up his shingle in Nashville, entering the state legislature four years later.

Speaker W. Joseph Byrns was a visitor to Victoria last October 15, on which date he called for the Orin aboard the Ss. President Grant as a member of Vice-president John N. Garner's Congressional Party to the Philippine Islands. Speaker Byrns and other members of the party spent five hours in Victoria on that occasion, being taken for a drive about the city and entertained at dinner at the Empress Hotel, where was one of the leading speakers.

Returning from the Orient, the Speaker was again in Victoria aboard the Ss. President Jefferson December 15.

William B. Bankhead, elected today as Speaker of the United States House, has been a member since 1917. His home is at Jasper, Alabama. He is the father of Tallulah Bankhead, movie and stage actress.

Pressure From Railways on M.P.'s

T. Reid Says C.P.R. As Well
As C.N.R. Exercises
Influence

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 4.—All the political pressure in Canada is not concerned with the Canadian National Railway, Thomas Reid, Liberal, New Westminster, told the House of Commons today. He was discussing the government bill to restore a board of directors to the Canadian National.

The Canadian Pacific Railway constantly attempted to bring pressure on members of Parliament, the British Columbia member declared. In 1931 he introduced a freight rates bill and a high official of the C.P.R. "threatened me with political death if I dared to continue."

In his judgment, the political pressure of the C.P.R. was worse than the approach of a member to the C.N.R.

"Pressure for many years past has been brought to bear on members of this House by the Canadian Pacific," Mr. Reid said. He thought it was time this was disclosed to show all the political pressure did not involve the C.N.R.

FIVE HURT IN GARAGE BLAST

Simcoe, Ont., June 4.—Five persons were injured today when an explosion in the garage of C. M. Browne wrecked the back portion of the building and shattered windows in business places and homes for several blocks. Two men at first reported missing were found uninjured.

The blast, believed caused when an acetylene tank exploded, brought hundreds of people upstairs into the streets as the explosion rocked nearby buildings and smashed numerous windows.

Fire that followed was quickly put under control.

The garage proprietor, C. M. Browne, was not in the building at the time. He lives upstairs in the front brick portion. His wife and new-born baby are in hospital.

DANZIG SOCIALIST PAPER PUT DOWN

Free City of Danzig, June 4.—Dr. Arthur Karl Greiser, president of the Danzig Senate, yesterday suppressed the Socialist newspaper Volksstimme for quoting him as saying the Danzig-Polish friendship pact was merely temporary.

Dr. Greiser was represented as stating: "After the expiration of the treaty, you will see what remains of friendship."

Poland protested at once, whereupon Dr. Greiser denied having made such a statement. The suppression order applies for two months.

Relief Camps Are Fast Closing Down

Calgary, June 4.—Expectation that all federal relief camps in Alberta and in the East and West Kootenays in British Columbia would be closed by the end of June was expressed by officials of Military District 13 here yesterday.

Convict Threatens Aimee McPherson

Ex-prisoner Arrested at San Diego, Cal., After Sending Extortion Letters

San Diego, Calif., June 4.—An extortion plot, involving a threat to make public pictures "in the nude" of Aimee McPherson, brought a man's arrest yesterday and a denial from the evangelist that such pictures existed.

A man giving his name as Valentine Philip McAllister, forty-two, self-described as an ex-convict once imprisoned at Winnipeg, surrendered to the district attorney and said he had sent five extortion notes to the partner of the Angelus Temple demanding $10,000. They contained a threat, he said, of "exposing her and blasting her reputation by making public pictures of her in the nude."

In Los Angeles, Mrs. McPherson said the letters would be turned over to federal officials and she would give them "the fullest co-operation."

"I don't know who this man at San Diego is," she said. "No one could have any picture of me that I wouldn't have published."

McAllister told Detective Ralph Whitney he served ten years in the Pennsylvania State Penitentiary and twenty-two months in prison at Winnipeg. He was held pending investigation.

To Inquire Into Roundhouse Work

Investigation into working arrangements at the E. and N. roundhouse, as far as they concern rolling stock, will be undertaken by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council as the result of a request to that effect from the machinists' delegates at the labor council's meeting yesterday evening.

A member of the machinists said that under the Dunsmuir land grant to the railway for the roundhouse all work had to be done locally. The delegates said the work was being done elsewhere.

The meeting decided to apply to the Attorney-General for an inquiry into matters connected with the dismissal by the city school board of an employee recently.

A motion of protest over the appointment of Percy Bengough to the Health Insurance Board failed to get a second. The protesting faction claimed the employees' representatives should have been named by the employees.

Cancellation of Contracts Upheld
Toronto, June 4.—Mr. Justice Hugh E. Rose of the Ontario Supreme court yesterday dismissed an action in which the Ottawa Valley Power Company and Joseph Stinger sought to have Ontario legislation cancelling power contracts declared with Quebec companies invalid.

They asked that the Power Companies Act of 1935 be ruled ultra vires the Ontario Legislature.

HEAVY FINES FOR BOTTLE HOARDERS

Canadian Press
Saint John, N.B., June 4.—The ordinary milk bottle is something of a bugaboo these days to Saint John housewives. Persons found with more than three day's supply of bottles in their possession are liable to fines of $25 to $500, depending on the number of times the offender breaks the new Dairy Products Commission Act.

Capital Changes For C.N.R. Studied

But Commons Committee Postpones Recommendations Till Next Session of Parliament

Ottawa, June 4.—While expressing belief adjustments of the Canadian National Railways' capital structure could be made which would be reflected in the balance sheet, the House of Commons committee on railways and shipping has refrained from making any recommendations on this matter.

The committee made its final report to the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. It referred to the fact recapitalization and the availability of writing down the railways' capital structure had been discussed during sittings recently concluded.

"Examination of the board of trustees elicited the fact that the matter had been the subject of further study during the year, and also the opinion that the question involves a matter of government policy, rather than a direct responsibility of the board of trustees," the report stated.

"Your committee is satisfied that certain adjustments could be made balance sheet. In view, however, of the Minister of Railways' statement that the question was under advisement and that the committee could expect to have the question referred to them under concrete proposals at the next session of parliament, your committee refrains, at this time, for making any recommendation."

Ottawa, June 4.—While expressing belief adjustments of the Canadian National Railways' capital structure could be made which would be reflected in the balance sheet, the House of Commons committee on railways and shipping has refrained from making any recommendations on this matter.

The committee made its final report to the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. It referred to the fact recapitalization and the availability of writing down the railways' capital structure had been discussed during sittings recently concluded.

"Examination of the board of trustees elicited the fact that the matter had been the subject of further study during the year, and also the opinion that the question involves a matter of government policy, rather than a direct responsibility of the board of trustees," the report stated.

ESTIMATES FOR YEAR
The report dealt briefly with the estimates for the present calendar year and disclosed in committee meetings.

"Examination of the Canadian National Railways' budget for the calendar year 1936 reveals that the operating revenues are estimated at $190,000,000 and the operating expenses at $177,500,000," said the report. "Sundry items charged against operating revenues, including interest on long term debt due to the public, amount to $61,300,000, showing an estimated deficit on the year's operations of $48,800,000. In this amount, however, are incorporated the following items not required in cash, viz., amortization of discount on funded debt, $1,027,000; loss on retirement of equipment, $2,423,000, in all, $3,450,000, reducing the anticipated net cash requirement on deficit account to $39,950,000."

NEW DIRECTORS
The Commons yesterday afternoon debated the bill to replace the present trustees of the C.N.R. with a board of directors. Hon. C. H. Cahan, Conservative, St. Lawrence, St. George, Montreal, former Secretary of State, gave it as his opinion political patronage and graft were ready to pounce on the Canadian National Railways as soon as the trustees should give way to the board of directors more closely linked with the government.

His attack on the amendments to the railway set-up drew from Prime Minister King the declaration that a majority of the people of Canada had sent the Liberal majority in the House of Commons to parliament to administer the railways as it thought best.

"The government did not propose to have its hands tied by legislation of the former Conservative government, which, he said, was enacted for the purpose of hampering a succeeding administration.

"The law as it stands provides the trustees hold office for seven years unless removed for an assigned cause on a joint address of the Senate and the House of Commons. It was the alteration of this provision which drew Mr. Cahan's objection.

"The chief purpose of this bill," he said, "seems to me to place the entire management of the railway under political control. I fear that is opening the way to political patronage and graft on a scale utterly unknown in Canada in connection with government-owned rails."

FISTS USED IN QUEBEC HOUSE

Quebec, June 4.—In the third fistic encounter since Quebec's legislative session opened, J. Theophile Larochelle, Action Libérale Nationale, Levis, tangled yesterday evening with L. N. Pelletier, doorman in the ante-room of the Legislative Assembly, when it was reported, the member for Levis objected to the doorman for remonstrating with him for talking too loudly in the ante-room.

Witnesses said the two men locked arms and went down in a heap. A chair was overturned, but, before serious damage was done, a Provincial Police officer stationed nearby intervened.

Dr. Philippe Hamel, Action Libérale Nationale, Quebec Centre, himself one of the principals in another fist fight which occurred outside the public accounts committee room last week, and Col. J. S. Bourque, A.L.N., Sherbrooke, escorted Mr. Larochelle to the Legislative Council chamber, where they closed the doors.

MAN WHO BROKE JAIL RECAPTURED

Port Arthur, Ont., June 4.—Edward Laplante and the woman who, police said, engineered his daring escape from jail here Monday were behind bars today.

The thirty-two-year-old escaped prisoner and Joan Wilson, twenty-five, were arrested during the night in a house near Port Arthur. Miss Wilson is believed to be from Edmonton and Vancouver.

Laplante, serving a one-year term, bolted from a working gang outside the jail as an automobile drove up nearby. He swung aboard the machine, said by police to have been driven by Miss Wilson, and the two sped quickly out of sight. The car was abandoned later in Port William.

PROTEST MADE ON NEW TAX

Head of Association of Canadian Perfume Manufacturers Voices Objections

Seignior Club, Que., June 4.—Robert Carr, president of the Association of Canadian Perfume and Manufacturers of Toilet Articles, protested additional taxation on the toilet goods industry in addressing the eighth annual convention here.

Mr. Carr said he could not understand why the industry should be singled out by the Dominion government and subjected to a special 10 per cent excise tax in addition to the 6 per cent sales tax.

"It followed a similar tax of 10 per cent instituted by the United States government," he said, "but no allowance has been made for the federal sales tax of 6 per cent already existing, and the budget increase of 2 per cent now makes a comparative federal taxation of 18 per cent as against 10 per cent in the United States."

SONS OF ITALY BILL STALLED

Senate Committee Feels Discussion Might Cause International Repercussions

Ottawa, June 4.—The Senate committee on private bills made no progress today with a measure to give Dominion-wide jurisdiction to the Quebec-incorporated fraternal society, the Independent Order of the Sons of Italy.

Committee members did not oppose the principle of the bill. Some, however, feared discussions it would precipitate in both the Senate and Commons might have unfortunate repercussions on the international situation. Following brief consideration of the measure, the committee adjourned to meet again at the call of the chair.

Senator James Arthur, Conservative, Parry Sound, Ont., came out flat-footed against "all nationalistic societies." The object of the measure was "not insurance, but something else," he added.

"How would we want to be treated if we wished to form a nationalistic society in Italy?" demanded Senator Felix P. Quinn, Conservative, Halifax.

"Yes," commented Senator Arthur, "what chance would we have? None at all."

TIME INOPPORTUNE

It was not good either for Italy or the British Empire that any discussion should be precipitated at this time, said Senator J. A. Calder, Conservative, Saskatchewan. If the committee approved the bill, it would provoke a serious discussion in the Senate. The promoters should consider the advisability of holding it over till another session.

"We know what is happening in Rome," he said. "They have to protect the British legation all the time from the violence of the mob. This bill has eventually got to go to the House of Commons, where they may discuss it violently."

VICTORIA'S GREAT OPPORTUNITY

IN ASKING THE PEOPLE OF VICTORIA to elect a Liberal next Monday to represent them at Ottawa the supporters of Mr. C. J. McDowell are making a very sensible request. Conservative speakers and the morning paper take exception to the suggestion that if this city is to get better consideration from Ottawa the logical course for the electors to follow is to see that the government candidate heads the poll. They call this argument "a wholly immoral plea and one in the nature of political bribery."

Over a long period our contemporary's Sunday issue has contained a special article pleading for a better deal for Vancouver Island. Victoria and Vancouver Island as a whole are entitled to a better deal. With that much admitted by all concerned, will it be argued with any degree of seriousness that one way to hasten an improvement in our relations with the mainland would be the election of either the Conservative or C.C.F. candidate on Monday? It is not necessary to answer the question. It is elementary to say, moreover, that it is reasonable to suppose that a supporter of the government will have an infinitely brighter hope of getting a sympathetic hearing of any case he proposes to present to that government than would anyone who would sit on the opposition benches.

The present administration at the national capital has the confidence of the people of Canada from one end of the country to the other. No party since Confederation has been given such an emphatic mandate as that which was given to the party led by Mr. Mackenzie King last October. Surely Victoria, through its electors next Monday, will hesitate to send a representative to Ottawa whose voice would be like a voice crying in the wilderness for the next four or five years. The people of this community will be merely acting in their own interests by voting Liberal.

FREE STATE SENATE GOES

THERE IS NO LONGER AN IRISH FREE State Senate. The other day President Eamon de Valera introduced to the Dail Eireann a decree abolishing the Upper Chamber of sixty members. This is all in accordance with his plan. "The next thing to go will be the Dail as a representative assembly," growled aged Senator Oliver St. J. Googarty. "Ten minutes of De Valera in England would have dislocated everything from a watch to a steam-turbine. Here he has only the seasons to dislocate and the Senate. He has dislocated both."

The Irish Times of Dublin protests and contends that the case against the Free State Senate has not been proved and suggests that even if it had been, the wise course would have been to devise another system, rather than abolish the House forever. Most bitter against De Valera is the I.R.A.—Southern Ireland's unseen Republican Army—which put him in office and is now chafing under his policy of "a Republic tomorrow, but never a Republic today." They charge that when he came into office he proclaimed his intention of governing without coercion. Now, after three years they say, "there is more coercion than ever." The military tribunal has been revived and is kept fully employed, while it also is pointed out that there is a newly-enrolled special branch of police expert in the use of arms.

The four-faced President never smiles, and to many Irishmen he is the cleverest politician and the worst statesman the Emerald Isle has ever had. Some patriots even sneer that "he is kept in office because there is no one else to take his place," even though they honored him once as one of the leaders sentenced to death after the abortive Easter revolt of 1916. What the future holds for the Free State remains to be seen. To turn it completely into a Republic would present many difficulties not the least of which would be its relations with the north, for De Valera's dream of a United Ireland under a republican banner is as far from realization as ever. Ulster will have none of it.

PUNCH ADVISES ON ALARM CLOCKS

WE HAVE KNOWN OF MR. FRANK Hall in his college days as a student of distinction and in the college ring as a boxer of points; later, as a barrister and political speaker of promise. But we had no knowledge of him as an expert on the extermination of a pest of our time-tabled existence—the alarm clock. That is, not until we picked up a recent copy of Punch.

There, in that supreme weekly of the English-speaking world, we discovered him as the revealer of the copyrighted secrets of "How to Destroy Alarm Clocks." After his twenty-five years of research he confirms our suspicions that the problem of dealing with these devilish devices, which by their "explosive matutinal cacophonies" rouse us into "a nerve-shattered wakefulness," is one that arises in millions of homes on morning after morning (on Monday mornings, anyway); that besides a cumulative waste and inefficiency which must have the most grave and far-reaching social consequences, there results as an instinctive reaction a resolve to work out an efficient system of destroying them. We learn how a careful search has revealed that until now not one of such resolves has found expression in any published work.

Mr. Hall, as Punch now broadcasts to the world, has devised three methods whereby the disturbed sleeper may obey his urge to deal effectively and vindictively with this efficient but soulless mechanism. His first two employ intricate contraptions of Rube Goldbergian ingenuity—one with a trip-hammer of pile-driving proportions, the other with a determinedly poised carpenter's hammer. Accompanying illustrations show the system of connecting wires and levers, how any dutiful alarm clock may be placed to get what one, rudely awakened, thinks should be coming to it. The third method resorts to a modern refinement of the medieval practice of boiling in oil for a saucy clock. It is frankly pointed out, however, that the third has its drawbacks, as the fumes of oil kept boiling all night have sometimes been known to cause suffocation of its devotees, "thus making it immaterial whether the alarm goes off or not."

Of course, there are two other possible ways, and Punch generously admits them: (a) Throw your alarm clock away; or (b) don't set the alarm. But these are not likely to appeal to us, at least, not at the moment of impact.

DEMORALIZING NORTH CHINA

IT HAS BEEN APPARENT FOR SOME time that authority was collapsing in North China. Smuggling operations have been on the increase, carried on openly, with officialdom somehow rendered impotent. So general are these operations that the situation is viewed by some as a development of studied policy to bring demoralization as a prelude to the resumption of military invasion now under way. The undermining of authority has been working to the benefit of Japanese exporters who are the chief suppliers of the smuggled goods; more important, to the financial disadvantage of the Chinese Government which in the past has been able to count on large revenues from the customs manned under treaty by Europeans, who are now unable to enforce collections.

Most alarming has been the spread of the opium traffic in the North China area. This has been extending with such rapidity that the suspicion has been voiced of Japanese connivance as part of a demoralizing programme. Japan's "laxity" in this matter was up last week before the League of Nations Opium Advisory Committee at Geneva, participated in by British, Canadian, American and other delegations. Mr. Stuart J. Fuller of the United States State Department told the commission that Japanese and Korean traffickers were responsible for "the almost unbelievable conditions obtaining in the so-called demilitarized zone in Hopei, the disgraceful spread of drug addiction in the Hopei countryside and the conditions found to exist even in Shanghai." In Manchukuo the situation was also described as "terrifying," an investigation revealing the opium production there was, at the lowest estimate, 12,261 metric tons, or 90 per cent of the world's production.

These statements support those uttered here a few days ago by Captain A. J. Brace, F.R.G.S., a former Victorian, now a Y.M.C.A. organization missionary on furlough from China. He said Japan had 400 dope stations in North China distributing opium and other drugs. Chinese unable to pay for the first few doses were supplied free to get them started.

Mr. Fuller made the statement at Geneva that where Japanese influence advances in the Far East, the drug traffic goes with it. This is a starting charge. It was given substantiation by Mr. Leonard Lyall, president of the League's Permanent Central Opium Board. He pointed out that extra-territoriality protected Japanese traffickers from the Chinese Government and that Japanese official pressure caused Changli's Chinese governor, who sought to act against these traffickers, to be removed from office as "being anti-Japanese."

Against this insidious invasion China appears helpless. Its viciousness recalls the trafficking of the white opium merchants a century ago. From the blight they spread, China only in recent years has been emerging. To those responsible for the current revival of the traffic, one delegate at Geneva the other day, warned wisely when he said: "If the Chinese people become convinced that Japan is chiefly to blame for all the lives wrecked by heroin the amount of hatred engendered may last for generations."

NOT AS BAD AS THAT

A NEWS ODDITY CAME OVER THE wires the other day. It told us that a group of tourists arriving in New York on the liner Girlostein refused to land until they had been assured by a Customs officer that they would not be shot immediately by gangsters.

This, on the face of it, may be considered as trivial and absurd. But as one commentator says, while making little difference what a handful of visitors may think of the American people, "the significance of this affair lies in the reasons back of this odd European conception of America and Americans."

It has to be admitted, of course, that our neighbor has tolerated criminals and condoned the corruption of public office for so long that she naturally finds it difficult now to stand out before the world, a nation, as they are, of essentially honest people. Indifference to lawlessness injures national character. There are unmistakable signs, however, that the republic's "G-men" are doing an excellent job of work, that they are putting fear into the hearts of those who belong to the public-enemy class.

We suggest an injunction for Victorians next Monday: Vote McDowell!

The economic belief of the Conservatives of this country is that Canada is quite well able to survive by her citizens taking in one another's washing. How Conservatives loathe imports!

The Queen Mary did not beat the Normandie's record. This reminds us of the duty that some people will do almost anything to save ten minutes of travel from point to point—when some cynic asked: "What will they do with the ten minutes?"

The headline prize for the last week ought to go to the writer who captioned with "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" the news story about Father Divine purchasing his own airport so he may commute between crowded, sweltering Harlem and his suburban home, "Heavens."

Do not forget that after two and a half years of government under Mr. R. B. Bennett, the external trade of Canada dropped from more than $2,600,000,000 to less than $900,000,000. In this decline in business is to be found the cause of our serious unemployment problem.

Loose Ends

There is sad news about the year—but good news about the times—nickel stocks boom satisfactorily—and there is keen interest in science.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

SAD NEWS

IT IS WITH RELUCTANCE, AND ONLY from a stern sense of duty, that I point out to you at this season a certain disagreeable fact, which you would not suspect otherwise. You may recall that it was New Year's only a few days ago, and one has hardly got over the cost of last Christmas, has one? Well, the New Year is nearly half over now; within a few weeks we shall be into autumn; the Legislature and Christmas are already in sight; and soon we shall end the seventh year since the beginning of the depression in 1929.

Remember, also, that recovery started in the spring of 1932, so that we have had three years of it and the ordinary cycle of business averages only seven.

So, on the whole, the moral of this sad tale is that you had better enjoy 1936 while you can. You won't have it with you for long and you can't expect these good times to last forever.

IN THE MIND

AS A MATTER OF FACT, I WAS DIS- cussing these two points with Mrs. Noggins as we drove to town today. "You know," said she, "I've given up believe in the depression any more. You take me, for instance. I thought I was 'ard' by the depression when the price of hedges went down, but come to think of it, the price of everything else went down at the same time, so it didn't make no matter—except in me mind. Well, we lived same as usual all through the depression, but we felt poor. We felt so poor we kept savin' our money and the more we saved the poorer we felt. It didn't seem right to feel no other ways when everybody else was so 'ard' up."

"You take Pudbury, too. Why 'e got less fer 'is milk, but bless me, 'e cut the wages of 'is three boys wot milk fer 'im and made money on it. But he felt so poor 'e kept the same old truck and the same old car 'e'd 'ad fer seven years before the depression started, and Mrs. Pudbury is wearin' the same dress she went into the depression in back in 1929."

"But look wot's 'appened lately, sir! The cost of everything is up. I'm makin' less on me hedges than ever I was, but it don't seem to matter. The depression is over. Everybody says so. The fingers show it's over. We've got to go good 'ome. So my old man and me went out and bought a new radio and some furniture and some new clothes and all. (I had observed, with a certain nostalgia, the disappearance of Mrs. Noggins' straw hat with the pink roses and faded violets on it.)"

"Pudbury, 'e ain't making near so much as 'e was in the middle of the depression, all prices bein' up, you know, but 'e's bought a new truck and a new car and Mrs. Pudbury's got three new dresses all yesterday. We ain't got so much money as we 'ad before, and we've spent wot we saved, but bless me, the depression is over, so we're makin' a spurge like. But if we go on spendin' money the way we are now, we'll need another depression to get back on our feet again. The way I look at it, it all depends on the way you look at it. A lot of people will be worse off in these good times but so long as they feel better, wot does it matter? Even if it costs more, I'm in favor of good times meself."

GOOD NEWS

NICKEL STOCKS boomed this week on Canadian stock exchanges on account of the probability of war in China. This was good for Canadian investors. If we can only get a real war started now, in some convenient part of the globe, not only nickel but many other mineral stocks will boom and wheat prices will go soaring.

Already a large percentage of our mineral production in Canada, and particularly in British Columbia, undoubtedly is going into armaments in various parts of the world, but the danger is that if these armaments are not soon used, and blown up, the military nations may have enough and stop buying our minerals; though there seems to be no immediate prospect of any such disaster. It would be interesting to know how much of the world's present recovery is due to the huge armament industry now booming in all parts of the world but this. That industry in keeping at work British Columbia miners who eat British Columbia fruit and vegetables, thus employing British Columbia farmers, who buy lumber for barns, thus employing British Columbia lumberjacks, who eat fish, thus keeping at work British Columbia fishermen, who read newspapers, thus keeping at work people like me and so on down an endless chain.

COAL AND WOOD

"Does Last Longer"

Building armaments is probably the most important single industry in the world just now, and it is not one of those industries which foolishly create a surplus and then slump because they can't sell their products, like agriculture, for example. The armament industry can always extinguish its surplus by war, which uses up armaments with satisfactory speed. Then, afterwards, when there is a shortage, the armament factories can start working again to re-arm the nations.

In many ways, not merely through the sale of nickel, Canada is benefiting from this industry. Made prosperous by the activity of war preparations, all our foreign customers buy more of all our products. Indeed, if the armament industry were to collapse tomorrow, it is probably true that all the world's recovery since 1933 would be lost and we should fall back into the pit of the depression. Fortunately, this is not likely to occur.

It is an interesting thought, meanwhile, that we are selling the materials of war, particularly that vital thing nickel, to arm countries which may be fighting with us during the next few years. We are supplying the material for shells and bullets which may well be used to kill Canadian boys now walking the streets of Victoria. It is good business. It makes prosperity.

SCIENTIFIC NOTE

IT IS VALUABLE, SCIENTIFICALLY, I suppose, for children to see such wonders as the flea circus which was here recently with the large whale. But the results of such scientific education cannot always be foreseen. For example, what about Smoky? Is he to have no protection from scientific experiment? What about the bullheads at our lake? Are they to be sacrificed wholesale to this rage for knowledge?

What I mean is that when the two demons from next door had seen the whale and the flea circus they were so inspired by the scientific spirit that they determined to have a flea circus and a whale show of their own. They got poor Smoky, their black mongrel, down on the lawn and went over him with combs (the same combs which they later used to comb their own hair) and finally located one flea. By Smoky's vigorous scratching they had suspected the presence of many more, but Smoky's total crop was one, a serious disappointment.

The prisoner has been confined in a cardboard pill box temporarily until a proper auditorium can be erected to house him, and I understand that his education in riding a bicycle will commence as soon as a bicycle can be obtained.

Meanwhile, the little boy from next door has supplied a whale for the show—not as large as he would like, but a substantial bullhead six inches long. He has been tastefully embalmed in table salt and lies prostrate, with a brooding look, on what was once a toy fire engine. He and the flea will be widely exhibited during the summer in the interests of science.

But they pointed to the "regrettable friction" that has been evident for some years between the government and the unofficial community and attributed it to the governor's reluctance to take them into his confidence throughout his term of office. Now Lord Francis Scott is coming to England to lay their grievances before the Colonial Office. There will be no failure in this country to appreciate the impatience that even a small British community feels at having no practical say in its own government. But Kenya is not a land where responsibility can be delegated to the handful of Europeans who inhabit it. They number only some 18,000 in a population of over 3,000,000, and it is improbable that their numbers will ever greatly increase. Short of that, however, there is much that may be done to alleviate the tension between settler and official, and the full and frank discussions that lie ahead should help.

Letters to the Editor

NO LOVE FOR BENNETT

To the Editor:—Sink party thought together and go back to 1930 and to 1934. What did R. B. Bennett give Canada. Dictatorship!

Let us without prejudice look at the difference one year has made. Today we know that a change has come. Why did the manufacturers of Canada vote for a change? Because they found that Canada was a producing country as well as manufacturing. The late Bennett government only supported the manufacturers and left the producers to do the best they could. Canada produces 200 per cent more than its own population can consume of the surplus. We could not do this because Bennett closed the door to outside trade. Bennett and all his errors are what our friend, Simon, would support.

THIS BY-ELECTION

To the Editor:—We have Hon. S. P. Tolmie listed in his nomination papers as retired. Well, I agree with him. We all know what Dr. Tolmie did for us after 1917 as a federal member. But as head of the provincial government, well, there is no argument about it—he fell down. I fell to see how and why the Conservative Party got such an idea as to put him before the electorate again. As for King Gordon, C.C.F., do the people of Victoria want a poet and writer to represent them at Ottawa, a man that has no time for anything but his own profession. Not only that, but King Gordon is not a citizen of Victoria, nor of the province. How will he fit in at Ottawa when he does not know what we want? He would have to take a back seat with the other seven C.C.F. members.

In C. J. McDowell we have an outstanding man of business ability. He has been a success in his own private business. He is a native son and a young man.

I would ask all electors to cast all party lines aside and come over on the right side of the fence and send Mr. McDowell to Ottawa next Monday.

EDWARD MURRAY.

"THREE GOOD MEN"

To the Editor:—In the by-election we are fortunate in having three good men before the electorate, each being of undoubted integrity and honesty.

It occurred to me it would be a great help to the electors in deciding their vote if they would view the situation in the following way:

Let us suppose that the three candidates are non-party men; just three good citizens. After the one securing the largest number of votes has been duly elected, he would go to Ottawa and be given the opportunity of joining either of the five parties at present represented there. He could join Mr. Stevens, who is the lone representative of the Reconstruction Party; or he could go with Mr. Woodworth and his party of seven; or the Social Credit Group of seventeen; or go with Mr. Bennett and his party of thirty-nine; or with Mr. Mackenzie King and his party of 171, who are now in power.

In deciding which party he would affiliate with, our new member would naturally choose the one he felt would enable him to get the best results for the city he is elected to represent, and under these circumstances we all know that any one of our three candidates would undoubtedly join the Mackenzie King group, because it will be in power for the next four years at least, on account of the fact that he would be one of the party which is the actual government of the country.

But as our elections are not conducted on the lines mentioned above, I think our people will unhesitatingly feel that there is but one thing to do on this occasion, and that is vote for the Mackenzie King candidate, Mr. McDowell, and thus not only do that which is best for Victoria, but also show their appreciation of the excellent work being done by the best cabinet Canada has had during the last thirty years.

UPLANDS.

LOOK AT SWEDEN

To the Editor:—Having read Dr. Tolmie's speech at Oak Bay, I heartily agree that the people of British Columbia are "tired of the political manoeuvres and want governments to get on with the business of the country."

The "theorists," by which we presume the doctor means the C.C.F., may not have denied any skies over British Columbia, but they have knocked the props from under the Conservative platform. Let us skip Dr. Tolmie's nine years at Ottawa and go back to the time when he was Prime Minister of British Columbia. His record and that of his government show nothing except taxation to the utmost limit, which ended three years ago in their being thrown out, bag and baggage.

The C.C.F. is the only movement working for the benefit of the people by advocating a system of production for use and not for profit, as has always been the case hitherto, when system depends upon social or co-operative ownership and control of the means of life. The last provincial vote showed that a great number of Canadians in B.C. did not want socialism, and not that it is the socialist system, "had about worn out its welcome," as stated by Gordon A. Cameron. As socialism has so far had no opportunity in this province of being tried out, surely Mr. Cameron's remark must be very premature.

The following facts should be of interest to those who are tired of the old and worn-out system of party politics: "Sweden, under the Social administration, has resulted in economic progress for the masses without the loss of a single democratic right, without the blustering of a dictator, the poison of race persecution, the destruction of free press, speech, assembly and the like. Employment there in 1936 is greater than in 1929; less than 1 per cent of the employables are without jobs. The budget has been balanced right through the depression."

JOHN TOLMIE.

LETTER OF THANKS

To the Editor:—Allow me through your valuable columns to thank the public who purchased tickets in the queen contest, enabling the queen committee to outfit the queen, two princesses, two flower girls and four trainbearers and entertain them during the holiday programme. The committee was therefore able to present a colorful scene at the Parliament Buildings, when Premier Pattullo crowned Queen Dewar queen of May 24, 1936. The committee thanks the Premier for his kindness.

Our thanks are also extended to the Hon. F. M. MacPherson for permission to use the Parliament Building steps for the ceremony, and to those that arranged the same; to Chief Heatley, who headed the drive through the main parts of the city and the ten police officers who acted as bodyguards to the queen; to Thos. Timley Ltd. for the use of a new car for the queen; to the officers of the Beggs Motor Company for the use of a new car for the princesses; to Mr. Pemberton of the National Motors for the use of a new car for the queen committee; to W. H. Warren, park superintendent, for a supply of flowers for the cars; to both Mrs. Leeming and the Floral Art Company for a supply of flowers for the royal party.

Also we extend our thanks to the four unsuccessful candidates who worked so hard during the queen contest and produced quite a sum of money, but fell short of complete success. Trusting I have not overlooked anyone who in any way assisted with the queen programme, I extend the sincere thanks of the committee to all those who contributed to its success.

I was also pleased to hear that business people in Victoria felt an added impetus to trade after the drive.

On behalf of the queen's committee.

G. A. DYSON, Vice-Chairman, Queen's Committee.

DOUKHOBORS RESETTLED

To the Editor:—Allow me space in your paper for the enclosed answer to the letter, "Doukhobors Reset."

Is it not time for young men in relief camps to turn Doukhobors, also many married men who have struggled to keep themselves off relief, when you read that the government is providing land free and farms free for these people? Also giving them horses and seed. Why not get a little further and supply labor from camps to put in the seed and work the land for these people. It sure makes good reading when one is faced with the paying of taxes. If he does not pay, the land is taken and sold to pay taxes. This is what your sons get after fighting for their country. Pattullo announces that farmers or landowners can work off their taxes, but does not say who is going to provide bread while he is doing this work. Yet the government can provide everything for anyone but a white man, whom they will, if possible, hinder from even getting a living. It is high time we had a stock-taking of our government and public servants—a fact which is very much overlooked in this country. Why not learn more justice and less pity for the foreigner, as a little of the government's pity could be well used by some of our people who are keeping the flag waving.

AN ONLOOKER.

Duncan, B.C.

"FORGOTTEN MEN"

To the Editor:—Peter Hartnell writes like a very young man without any experience of life as it really is or has been in the past quarter of a century.

To talk of the "natural and inescapable right of man" to liberty, property and resistance to oppression in the shadow of the events of this period is mere childishness. If he is old enough (because there is an age restriction) he should go and see the film now showing at the Atlas Theatre. There he will see in actual process, or as actual as photography can make it, the "right" of men, to liberty—as cannon fodder; to property—at the receiving end of a twelve-inch shell; to resistance to oppression—in a gas mask or coughing up his lungs in a puddle of his own blood.

He will probably recognize this plagiarism with which I conclude: "Freedom and equality have no place in this programme—only a bestial suppression and repression of the authors of war themselves, who are saved—for depression!"

Continuance of our present economic system inevitably and inexorably means war, and war, as this wonderful film clearly shows, and as Major Cohen V.C. so truly says, means absolute destruction of our civilization. The scope of human folly. If this is the best that our civilization can produce, perhaps it is as well!

Nevertheless, Mr. Hartnell, while it is true that I am one of the "forgotten men," I have not forgotten why I am forgotten; neither am I, to quote Major Cohen again, "a peace at any price man."

T. GUY SHEPPARD, Captain, late H.L.I.

WHEN BLACK-ROBED NIGHT RIDERS TERRORIZED MANY

Spreading fear in widespread districts were these night riders, forerunners of the Black Legion, in Michigan and other states of the U.S., as they gathered at Buckeye Lake, O., during the heyday of the Klan. Clad in black robes and hoods, bearing skull and crossbones insignia, they represented the militant branch of the organization. Dr. William Shepard of Bellaire, O., who admits he was organizer of the riders in southeastern Ohio, asserted with pride that the black-robed terrorists created a sensation when they first appeared at a Klu Kluxer encampment among the white-sheeted klansmen. The Black Legion is being investigated now by prosecutors in Michigan and other parts of the republic.

SLAM ON SHORT SUITS

Declarer Makes Six No Trump Without Five-carder, by Working Out a Simple Squeeze Play

By WM. E. MCKENNEY

Today's hand was sent to me by one who signs himself "Constant Reader." I believe the hand will be of interest to all my other readers, and I also hope that my contributor will see it and accept my thanks for the hand, which displays a very interesting squeeze.

While it is a pretty general rule that a contract of six no trump should not be attempted without a five-card suit in either of the two hands, today's hand contains so many high card tricks, in the combined holdings of north and south, that it can be considered an exception to the rule.

With a three-three break in diamonds, the hand would be a lay-down for a small slam; failing this, the possibility of a squeeze is always present.

Those in charge of the stall at the hospital bazaar will be Ella Creighton, T. Thorburn, K. Keel, J. Duncan, H. Ruby and G. Homfray.

After the business was concluded, the members held a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Anne Staples, whose marriage will take place next month.

Tea hostesses were the Misses Iris Grassie, May Compton-Lundie, Helen Ruby and Rheta Tilley.

A small diamond was played to dummy's king. West winning with the ace. A heart return forced out the declarer's king of hearts.

Four rounds of spades were taken and, on the fourth round, all discarded hearts. Declarer now tried the diamond suit, but the suit failed to break, East discarding a club.

Now declarer realized that the squeeze had worked and that the club suit had to break, since East was marked with the jack of hearts and West with the ten of diamonds.

There being only four cards left in each hand at this point, it was obvious that each defender held three clubs.

Thus declarer was able to cash a small club in dummy for his twelfth trick.

Australian Vines Bear Many Years

H. T. Laffer, London representative of the Australian Overseas Wine Marketing Board, who is visiting the city, gave a glimpse into Australian history in an interview at the Empress Hotel today.

An Australian himself, Mr. Laffer, who for the last six years has been stationed in London, is returning to England after a visit to his homeland and is making contacts in Canada en route.

In the year 1788 the British sent an expedition to take possession of the country and three days after Captain Phillip, who later became the first governor of New South Wales, arrived at Sydney Cove to raise the British flag, a French fleet appeared with the same objective, but left when they found the British in possession.

Australia had first been discovered by Captain James Cook in 1770.

In 1806, when he was at the zenith of his power, Napoleon sent a delegation to Australia, headed by M. Peron, his chief viticulturalist, to inspect the country, and Peron returned and reported that the country must become the vineyard of Britain, Mr. Laffer explained.

It was Captain Phillip who first introduced the grapevine to Australia, but it was not until 1850 that a comprehensive collection of vines, known as the Busby collection, was taken from all parts of Europe, and became the foundation of the present Australian vineyards.

Mr. Laffer said that vines planted in Australia in 1851 were to his knowledge bearing fruit up to ten years ago. Vines planted three-quarters of a century ago were still bearing, he said.

Mr. Laffer is the man who six years ago put the Australian wines on the Canadian market, and sales have developed very satisfactorily, he says.

The Australian wine trade in Great Britain has also developed rapidly. Britain's consumption of Australian wine in 1924 was 800,000 gallons, Mr. Laffer said, whereas in 1934 it had increased to 3,250,000 gallons.

The secret of Australia's progressiveness today, Mr. Laffer said, was the fact that she took a grip of the depression more quickly than other countries and set to work to put her house in order.

He plans to leave here tomorrow for the east.

Graduate Nurses—The Victoria

Graduate Nurses' Association met on Tuesday evening at the Jubilee Nurses'

Home. Miss W. M. Cooke gave a most interesting demonstration of nursing procedure.

FROM HUMAN STANDPOINT

Speaking of the great question of unemployment, Mrs. Eaton reminded the gathering that the number of people receiving direct relief in the month of March of this year was

1,220,390 people. She believed that the whole question should be approached from the point of human personalities rather than from that of dollars and cents.

Such a view had been stressed by the Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, in his recent address on the matter of unemployment insurance, and the speaker quoted at some length from the speech in question. Behind the terms of statistics so often employed in speaking of the unemployment problem lies the tragic story of human frustration and often starvation, the minister had said.

MANY UNEMPLOYABLE

Mrs. Eaton touched upon the history of unemployment relief, and she classified those receiving it as the unemployable and the unemployable, noting that through illness, increasing age and other circumstances over which they had no control, many of the former employable class had now drifted into the unemployable class.

She reviewed the steps taken by the Federal Government to meet the problem, and touched upon the closing of the relief camps for young men. The great protest that went up from women all over the provinces against the continuation of these camps was recalled, and the speaker praised the authorities for having heeded what was practically a mandate in closing them down and trying to find work for the young men.

The public works programme, calling for the expenditure of $75,000,000 was another excellent project designed to increase employment, Mrs.

Eaton continued. This was another instance of the government's "short range" programme of recovery planned to take care of the immediate situation.

But as a "long range" method, much was to be said for the government's establishment of an unemployment commission to look into the whole question of cause and effect, with a view to a permanent solution of this grave problem, said Mrs.

Eaton. In this connection, she recalled the praise given by the Federal

Minister of Labor to the Provincial

Minister, Hon. G. B. Pearson, for the valuable information collected by the

B.C. department.

Vancouver Island Holds the Interest Of All Visitors

June days bring thoughts of vacation time! And with those thoughts comes the all important question... where to go... followed quickly by the almost more momentous one of... how to make the budget stretch to include a carefree holiday.

This year... why not forget all the scheming and worrying about the budget, all the little economies that go with thoughts of a holiday. Get a map of Vancouver Island... study it carefully... and see how quickly those two little questions... when? How?... become of very little consequence... For right at our very doorway... within the reach of one and all... is a veritable wonderland of holiday possibilities.

NATURAL BEAUTY

Vancouver Island possesses all the natural beauty of far-flung lands, all the romance and mystery of more inaccessible ports. Here are mountainous regions equal in grandeur to wider-known playgrounds. There are canyons, split by nature's cleaver into awe-inspiring depths; waterfalls, where foaming rivers and streams leap and swirl downward into narrow dark canyons; snow-cloaked peaks to tempt the adventurous to climb upward and onward... and lakes caught in the folds of the hills, like unknown gems from nature's own mold. Here too is the long unbroken line of the sea... shining sands that stretch for miles... where the little rippling wavelets run in unceasing carelessness along the scimitar edge of the shore. Where the sun is warm and life one long succession of swimming, bathing and lazing. There are little towns nestled in the curves of the road where a warmth of hospitality meets all visitors. Larger cities with modern stores and fine thoroughfares. Over all floats the mist of legend... Indian legend, that goes back beyond the memory of living men. Romantic tales, with here and there, the flavor of sterner things. Tales that find an echo in the soft sighing of the pines far in the hills, the eerie cry of the loon over some quiet lake, the curious rush and pull of the tide along the shore. An echo too, in place names of towns and streams and hills from one end of Vancouver Island to the other.

TRANSPORTATION

Vacationists who include Vancouver Island in this year's plans should be pleased that all points of interest, whether it be lake, mountain or shore, are easily accessible to all. From Victoria a daily train and bus service touches at or near every summer resort and district on the island. For the motorist, there is the Island Highway, winding away beyond the beauties of the Malahat, through farmlands and woodlands... sweeping down along the shore, then on, ever on into the lesser known hinterland of Vancouver Island. Up, in the hills... it ends in the very garden of a hotel on the shores of Upper Campbell Lake. The end of the road... but not the end of the trail... for beyond are the hills, clad in the moving green of emerald trees, the unbroken stillness of forest paths and the quiet beauty of lake and stream.

Rivers Inlet Will Be Surveyed Soon

Houseboat Pender to Go There This Summer; Wm. J. Stewart Leaves Today to Finish West Coast Work and Will Then Go to Queen Charlottes

To complete the survey of the West Coast of Vancouver Island for all time, the government hydrographic survey steamer Wm. J. Stewart left the Inner Harbor this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock and proceeded to Fort Alberni where some harbor soundings will be taken tomorrow morning.

The ship will then go north to Cape Cook and remain there until July 15 when she is scheduled to go north to the Queen Charlotte Islands to complete the survey started on the west coast last summer.

Announcement that Rivers Inlet, on the mainland coast of British Columbia, would be surveyed during the summer was made this morning by H. D. Parizeau, chief hydrographer on the coast.

"The house boat Pender has now finished her work near Cape Scott and is at present in Rupert Arm, Quatsino Sound," Mr. Parizeau said. "About the middle of July, before we go to the Queen Charlotte Islands, we will tow her to Rivers Inlet where she will take soundings and do survey work."

IMPORTANT WATERWAY
During the summer this inlet is an important waterway, as several large canneries are situated along its shores.

"When we finish the west coast of Queen Charlotte this summer the survey will be good for another twenty-five years, or until there is more development there anyway," Mr. Parizeau said. "There are a few harbors there we haven't done yet, and there are some developments of fishing banks I would like to have a look at."

The Stewart has already done much work off the West Coast this season, but was hampered by weather. There were no severe storms, but plenty of rain and mist.

STRANGE SIGHTS
The crew of the Stewart saw many strange sights while at sea, but perhaps one of the strangest was a two-story house being moved on the ocean.

"One morning about 5 o'clock I saw something ahead and I said to myself 'that looks funny to me,'" Mr. Parizeau said. "I had never seen a big rock like that before, so I took my glasses and discovered it was a two-story house being towed on a big raft by a tugboat. I learned later it was one of the houses from the old whaling station at Chelchot going to CoepeCee. That's an ocean journey of about twenty miles."

The Stewart came here a few days ago to coal. She can take on about 800 tons at a time and this lasts about six weeks.

She remained in port today long enough to give members of her crew an opportunity to vote in the advance poll.

Harbors Board Is Discussed

Senator McRae Says Gibb Report Favored By People of British Columbia

Ottawa, June 4.—The suggestion was made today no witnesses need be heard by the Senate Harbors Committee dealing with the government bill to establish a national harbors board.

When the committee convened General A. D. McRae, Conservative, Vancouver, said if representatives from the Shipping Federation were heard application for hearing would come from Vancouver and Halifax with the result there would be delay in dealing with the bill. Some changes in the measure were desired, however, he declared.

He said 90 per cent of the people of British Columbia favored the report of Sir Alexander Gibb, British port authority, recommending establishment of the board.

Senator James Calder, Conservative, Saltcoats, said he saw no reason for calling witnesses when the principle of the bill was under discussion. Witnesses might be necessary. Then they could be called.

It was decided, finally, to hear no witnesses at the present stage of the bill.

The committee adjourned until next Tuesday.

Senator Arthur Meighen said he had an open mind on the bill, but in view of the strenuous opposition to it by Senator Ralston, who had been for some years a member of the Montreal Harbor Board, he wished to get some advice from shipping interests.

The claims of Halifax and Vancouver to be heard were desirous of making three important amendments to the bill. They desired that permanent officials of the board should be under the Civil Service Act; that tenders should be opened in public as was done in the Public Works Department; and that the duties of port managers should be set out in the act.

It was understood the present central harbor board is temporary, and Senator Ralston said that while it was a matter for the government to say who should be on the permanent board, he would suggest one member be from British Columbia, one from Quebec and one from the Maritimes.

Advisory committees should be appointed for each port General McRae said. He would select prominent men in port to serve without remuneration.

Senator George F. Graham presided.

Sir Alexander Gibb came to Victoria about five summers ago during a tour of Canadian harbors. He was taken for a cruise aboard the light-house tender Estevan and saw the port developments of the Inner Harbor and also went around to Esquimalt Harbor, spending some hours on an inspection of the Dominion Government drydock there.

U.S. WARSHIPS IN BREAKDOWN

Secrecy Shrouds Actual Damage Done to Big Battleships During Manoeuvres

San Pedro, June 4.—Rigid naval censorship shrouded yesterday the extent to which the United States fleet was crippled by the second annual manoeuvres conducted by Admiral J. S. Reeves.

Departure yesterday of the battleships New Mexico and Mississippi for emergency repairs at the Bremerton Navy Yard in Puget Sound revealed the most powerful unit in the main battle fleet underwent serious breakdown.

In last year's manoeuvres eight lives were lost in plane crashes and destroyer collisions, several planes were lost and a number of destroyers damaged.

This year no casualty list has been made public by Admiral Reeves. It was the first time in history that a fleet commander-in-chief denied passage to newspapermen, and all cameras of ships personnel were reported sealed.

Two capital ships were put out of tactical commission, and it was reported that the third in this famous division, the Idaho, also had turbine trouble. One of the heavy cruisers was damaged in collision with a merchantman, and two naval aviators were reported to have lost their lives.

Congratulations On Maiden Trip
New York, June 4.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull telegraphed members of the English Speaking Union today extending congratulations on the arrival of the liner Queen Mary and sending greetings to guests who crossed on the ship.

The telegram, along with a letter from Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York, was to be read at a luncheon here today, sponsored by the union in the United States as a welcome to officers and distinguished guests who arrived on the Queen Mary.

BLACK LEGION IN U.S. POLICE ROUND-UP

With prosecutors in Michigan tracing the story of the shooting to death of Charles A. Poole, authorities in other states of the U.S. are investigating to discover how widespread have been the secret activities of the Black Legion. Above are shown four of the men questioned in Detroit on the Poole slaying — left to right, Dayton Dean, Harvey Davis, "Colonel" in the organization; Urban Lipps and Irvin Lee. Alleged to have been patterned after the Ku Klux Klan, members of the Black Legion are declared to have worn hoods and gowns as shown at right, a police officer posing in the robes. Before him are shown weapons authorities say they took from Black Legion members.

Dr. Tolmie Tells Esquimaux Never to Forget Man Is a Fighting Animal

"There is always the possibility of war. I'm sure everyone appreciates the fact that if war did break out we would be in rather a serious position," said Dr. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative candidate in next Monday's federal by-election, when speaking at the Rex Theatre in Esquimaux yesterday evening.

He was supported on the platform by two former henchmen in his 1929-33 Provincial Cabinet, W. A. McKenzie, who was minister of mines, and Harry Pooley, who was attorney-general. Robert D. Harvey was in the chair.

Dr. Tolmie referred to the naval manoeuvres and the Pacific fortifications of the United States Navy. "Why is the United States making these preparations?" he asked. "Because she believes in preparing for war in time of peace."

"We must never forget man is a fighting animal. In my past experience with livestock, I learned you cannot turn a fighting animal into a dove of peace in twenty-four hours."

He remarked the C.C.F. did not seem strongly in favor of military training.

WAR SCARE

He recalled the days of the war when British Columbia people were frightened by reports of a German fleet in the Pacific.

"I sometimes wonder why they did not come to Victoria," he said. "Perhaps Dick McBride's two submarines scared them off."

Dr. Tolmie said he presented himself to the electors for their support, not on any promises, but on his past record.

He told of the fight he had had with the four Vancouver members to secure the government drydock for Esquimaux.

"But we got it," he said, "and instead of the ships going to Seattle, we can accommodate the largest ships here. It has meant work for our people and prosperity as far as it could go."

He recalled his father had been a great advocate of Esquimaux and he worked hard to have the Canadian Pacific terminus there.

DANGEROUS PROPOSALS

The C.C.F. candidate comes here with proposals for a complete upset," Dr. Tolmie said. "These are very dangerous proposals and we have no guarantee they will be satisfactory."

"Don't be carried away by these silly, very-tongued orators. I would want the ladies particularly. They play a very important part in British Columbia, but I would say to them, 'Don't swallow too much of this stuff.'"

Dr. Tolmie dealt briefly with the Oriental question and said the people of this province had lost their vegetable business and several other lines of activity that might just as well have been carried on by them.

"That may be all right," he said, "but what is it coming to giving them the franchise, that is a different matter. Why, in another thirty or forty years we might have a Japanese senator or two at Ottawa."

Victoria Needs Man To Fight For Trade

Commerce on Pacific Means Much to This Port, Says Liberal Candidate; Urges City to Line Up With Canada's Most Powerful Administration

The port of Victoria has a direct and vital interest in Pacific trade and needs a man at Ottawa to impress this upon government councils, C. J. McDowell, Liberal candidate in the Victoria by-election, said in a speech last night.

"It would be most short-sighted for Victorians to vote for an opponent of the government because that would be selling Ottawa to keep its trade improvement policies out of this city," he declared.

There was room for a great increase in trade between British Columbia and Great Britain. New Canadian Liberal policies had been directed toward removing causes which made British manufacturing districts hostile to Canadian produce.

The great British Commonwealth of South Africa, Australia and New Zealand are ready and anxious to trade with this province on any fair terms. This trade is of vital importance to Victoria and there is real need for a Liberal member from the city to impress the needs and opportunities of Victoria on the party councils at Ottawa," he asserted.

LIBERALS MOVING NOW

Already, he said, the Liberal Party had moved rapidly to repair the damage of tariff was engaged in by the Bennett government. It was evident that it would give sympathetic consideration to representations from a Victoria Liberal on matters beneficial and developing western commerce.

A case demanding redress was that of freight rates.

The mainland ports and all the back in Victoria. He is like Mr. Pattullo, and flies hither and thither. But this time he will go back east and stay there, for he will receive next Monday his second spanking. As far as the people of Esquimaux are concerned, they don't need a wise man from the east. We want a man who has his stake in the west and knows something about us.

"Dr. Tolmie is a half-fellow-well-met wherever he goes. He always has a smile and is willing to do his best. This is the first time the people of Esquimaux have had the opportunity to vote for Dr. Tolmie."

PAID TRIBUTE

In opening his talk, Mr. McKenzie paid tribute to D. B. Munckett and B. C. Nicholas. Of the former he said he was "sincere, honest and capable, although he may not have made as much noise as some of the others," and of the latter he said "he will long be remembered in Canada."

He dealt with the issues of the present campaign and said "Victoria should either have a new Federal Building or she should not. It is either necessary it should be constructed or it should not be constructed."

Of the Liberal candidate he said, "I suppose he would be in Ottawa three years and in that time he would scarcely know how to hang up his hat."

Dr. Tolmie, he said, had been in Ottawa nine years and had friends on both sides of the House.

"He has service to offer, not bribes," Mr. McKenzie said.

ports on Puget Sound and Columbia River were given equalized terminal rates. Victoria was one of the most profitable of Canadian cities to both of the Canadian railway systems in point of traffic carried to Victoria, and traffic originating in and given to the railways by Victoria, he said.

DISCRIMINATION

Yet the terminal rates given to Victoria were only partial; there were still substantial hindrances to Victoria's trade as a terminal port. A Liberal member could efficiently present Victoria's rights at Ottawa and prevent the sending of eastern and Vancouver lawyers by the railway companies to oppose before the railway commissioners every application for Victoria for fair treatment in terminal rates. The getting of fair and equalized terminal rates was of the most vital import to Victoria, and Victoria needed a man who would go after and keep after these terminal rates until full justice was secured.

Every fact in relation to increased trade with Great Britain and with the British Dominions, and with Pacific overseas nations required that Victoria get in line with majority thought in Canada and elect a Liberal member.

"An opposition member can only be a notice that Victoria does not want to co-operate and prefers grievances to results," he declared.

VICTORIA'S CHANCE

"Victoria City is now given the chance to co-operate with the most powerful administration ever elected in Canada. My urgent advice to you, in the interest of all Victorians, is to vote Liberal, because while theories and facts can be agitated and advertised outside of Parliament, the actual efficient work for the city can only be done by a member of Parliament on a basis of co-operating in the great Liberal policies which are bringing back Canadian commerce and speeding up Canadian recovery," said Mr. McDowell.

TO PROTEST PARK FIELD

Parks Committee Decides Against Use of Beacon Hill Ground at Present

After a survey of the field yesterday, the city parks committee declared the Douglas Street playing ground at Beacon Hill Park unfit for play this season. If Cox's army or any other group used the field this season the money expended on it by the city would be wasted, the committee felt.

The "Army," however, will be offered the use of the Athletic Park or Macdonald Park free of charge for its charity games.

Reconditioning of Franklin Park, off Mason Street, and the installation there of two swings for children will be recommended to the council along with a suggestion to set up public address systems for band concerts at Beacon Hill Park.

The committee generally felt the city should excavate a place at the foot of Foul Bay Road for the construction of a community lifeboat building.

Satisfaction with the new look-out at the top of Beacon Hill was voiced by the members of the group.

raised recently at Ottawa, Mr. McDowell declared Victoria, a free port before Confederation, should be given first consideration as the Pacific Coast free port if one were to be established in British Columbia.

He advocated establishment of a training base in Esquimaux for planes in connection with the Canadian navy. Victoria's weather was ideally suited for that work, he declared, before noting such a base would not only be a great training ground for commercial flying, the demand for which was increasing in the northland, but would also form the nucleus of a defensive air force. Such a defensive force would ultimately be required, he said.

BETTER HIGHWAYS

Mr. McDowell spoke of the need for a better highway system on the island, which would follow as a link of the trans-Canada highway. He showed how poor roads were depriving Victoria of up-island business, both in trade and tourists. Mr. McDowell spoke of the many attractions on the island, closed through lack of satisfactory roads to the south of the island and to visitors alike.

The Liberal Party was being blamed for favoring the enfranchisement of Orientals, he said. "I wish to say the Liberal Party is emphatically opposed to granting the franchise to Orientals in British Columbia," he declared.

"I think I am sincere in my desire to work for Victoria's interests," Mr. McDowell said, before stating he was making no definite political promises.

C. H. O'Halloran, campaign manager for Mr. McDowell, expressed his pleasure over acting in that capacity. Many Victorians, some who had previously voted for other parties, had come forward with expressions of faith in Mr. McDowell's ability to give Victoria good representation, he said.

URGES USE OF VOTE

"The only way Mr. McDowell can be defeated on Monday is by the possibility of lassitude of Victoria's Liberals," he added.

Mr. Lowe, impressed upon the meeting the importance of the by-election before contradicting the impression circulated by certain forces to the effect the Liberal candidate was attempting "to bribe" the electors with promises of work for Victoria. Mr. McDowell, he said, had merely taken the golden opportunity of facing Victoria through the possibility of having for the city a Liberal representative, one of the same party as that in power. From such Liberal representation a greater share of work might legitimately be expected, the chairman said.

Cleeve G. White, first speaker, referred to the political history of Dr. S. F. Tolmie, following his assumption of provincial Conservative leadership. He referred to his "millionaire's cabinet," and the happiness of the Conservative party in B.C. at that time. When R. B. Bennett led the Conservatives to power in the federal government the party's cup of happiness overflowed. Mr. White traced the rift in the Conservative ranks and the estrangement between the federal and provincial governments which preceded their defeats in their respective spheres.

CONSERVATIVE RIFTS

Blame was placed by each of the two leaders on the other for those defeats, he said.

What, he asked, would be the situation if Dr. Tolmie was sent from Victoria to Ottawa? He would be a man alone, a Conservative in a party which was badly split. "Why should we adopt someone else's orphan?" he asked.

A. M. Aitken spoke of the excellent meetings which he and the candidate had addressed during the week.

"They gave us a splendid reception," Capt. Aitken said, adding, Mr.

McDowell had been able to answer any of the questions put to him.

Mr. McDowell made a good run at the time of the general election, Mr. Aitken said, and was a Victorian, who knew his Victoria. He was a successful business man of the type that was required at Ottawa, Mr. McDowell had studied economics and knew what was required, Capt. Aitken said. It was time, he concluded, for Victoria to wake up and look after itself.

ISSUES SETTLED

M. B. Jackson said policies and theories had been given a more thorough airing than they had in his experience.

In view of what had happened was it not fatuous for Victorians to consider the possibility of rearing in the shadow when they had such a golden opportunity to back in the sunshine by returning a Liberal candidate, he asked. What sense was there in the Conservatives putting forward a candidate to advance policies entirely discredited at the last election, he added. Why, he asked, should the C.C.F. put forward a candidate to stand in the way of the city?

After studying the C.C.F. movement, he had come to the conclusion it was an agency stirring up discontent with theories and sentiment.

Where would the city get by repudiating or rejecting the government? he asked. What would it gain by sending a C.C.F. representative to join the "ridiculous rump" in the federal Parliament? Even if an opposing member were sent to Ottawa, he felt sure the government would deal fairly with Victoria, but the city would not secure the favored treatment that might be expected from Liberal representation. Where, he asked, could a more representative man be found than C. J. McDowell, who, he noted, had gained an admirable platform presence since his first campaign.

Closing, he recommended the Liberal candidate to take to Ottawa the suggestion to protect the "black forest of Douglas fir" on the West Coast, from Jordan River to Nitinat, as a national park, which, he claimed, would draw tourists in enormous numbers. The redwoods of California, he claimed, were not a patch on the trees of Vancouver Island. He urged the audience to work to its best ability to see the electors turned out to elect Mr. McDowell.

Mrs. Stuart Henderson, spoke briefly, noting Mr. McDowell's capabilities as a representative for Victoria.

THE BIG SIX

Lou Gehrig, the Yankee's slugging first-baseman, moved into baseball's batting Big Six yesterday, getting two hits in five times at bat, to boost his average to .362 and replace Rip Radcliff, of the White Sox, in third place in the American League.

The biggest gain of the day was made by young Stuart Martin, of the Cardinals, who had three hits in four times up to advance fourteen points to 400, just thirteen points back of Bill Terry, of the Giants, National League leader, who lost ground by failing to hit in two trips to the plate.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

IT IS rather hard for one to visualize 3,751 dogs bunched at a single show. But that was the mammoth entry for the recent annual exhibit of the Morris and Essex Kennel Club held outdoors at Madison, New Jersey. It proved one of the most notable sporting pageants ever put on in the United States and attracted upwards of 50,000 admirers. The show continued from 9 o'clock in the morning until darkness. During the day there were 20,000 motor cars parked. They came from all corners of the United States and Canada and in addition there were visitors from England and the Continent. Victoria boasts a very large number of dog fanciers and fine canines and no doubt some more information on this great show will be appreciated.

Six vast benching tents occupied two sides of the polo field, where the show was conducted, in the centre of which were the fifty judging rings. The exhibition was the greatest outdoor show ever staged in any country and closely approached the biggest of all shows—the three-day Crafts exhibition in London. Leading experts from all parts of the United States officiated. From New England to Texas, from the far south and California the noted judges attended, considering it the greatest honor to be asked. Three Canadians were on the board and from England were Mrs. J. Harper, Trois Fontaines, Northwood, Middlesex, to judge the Great Pyrenees, and Mrs. Cecil Harper, Burnham, Bucks, to pass upon the Scottish terriers.

With new records being established in all departments pertaining to dog shows in the country, it is evident that the time is not far off when the United States will just about lead the world in canine affairs. The amazing entry at the Morris and Essex is an example of the tremendous growth of the sport of showing dogs in America.

Seattle is experiencing a real baseball boom. The Indians of the Coast League are drawing bigger and better gates than for many a season. The Seattle club has been one of the big worries of the league bosses for some time, owing to lack of support. Now that the Indians have revived interest through their sensational spurt into first place, it is to be hoped the Seattle owners will not pull their usual stunt and sell some of their leading players. That has always been the trouble with the club. A strong outfit would be broken up by the sale of one or more stars to the majors and the fans got so they wouldn't turn out.

The recent success of the Indians has already resulted in talk of Fitch Lou Koupal and Catcher Hal Spindel going up to the big time. Koupal, a thirty-two-year-old right hander, has won ten games and lost two. Several major clubs figure his experience and pitching craft might be of immediate help. Still others are attracted by Spindel, whose promise of last season is blossoming into real stardom. A great hitter last year, Spindel's hustle and throwing this season have made him a real prospect. But the Indians shouldn't be in a hurry to sell their players. When the turnstiles click as they have done recently, it's a good idea to keep the winning team intact.

Beat El Dorado Girls For Third Successive Time

Percy Page's Team Displays Brilliant Form in 41 to 24 Victory

Removes Smudge Of Former Loss

Edmonton, June 4.—The smudge the Durant, Okla., Cardinals, smeared on the reputation of the Edmonton Grads three years ago was cleared today.

That same team, now known as the El Dorado, Ark., Oilers, was turned back in their challenge for the Underwood Trophy yesterday evening as Percy Page's wonder team captured their third game of the best-of-five series with the most convincing score of the four games. The score was Grads 41, El Dorado 24.

About 4,000 fans were on hand for the kill.

Three years ago the Durant Cardinals won three straight games from the Grads. This year, with the tallest team ever to oppose the champions, and with the Grads represented by the shortest team they have had in years, the southern girls started out in the same fashion. They won the first game, 44 to 40. Grads squeezed out a two-point victory in the second game when their star player, Noel MacDonald, scored two baskets in the dying minutes.

GRADS TOO GOOD

It was not until the third game the Grads showed any marked superiority. Then they outscored El Dorado in the first two quarters, kept the lead in the third and tallied shot for shot in the final stanza. Yesterday evening the Edmonton team had the better of the scoring in every quarter.

AUTO RACES ON SATURDAY

U.S. Drivers and Cars Will Appear at New Langford Speedway

Six of the leading race drivers in the northwest will compete in the first of the big speedway meets to be held on the new Langford track on Saturday afternoon and will bring with them some of the fastest cars in the state of Washington.

Nine local drivers will compete with locally-owned machines and plenty of thrills should be in store for the spectators.

The first race on the afternoon's programme will be confined to members of the B.C.A.S.A. and will be ten laps around the track. The visiting American drivers will drive in the third event on the programme, ten-lap race for American cars.

TIME TRIALS

Time trials will be held at 1.15 o'clock and approximately fourteen drivers entered. The six fastest cars in the time trials will race in the next event and this will be followed by the six fastest cars. The final race of the day will be a thirty-lap grind open to American and local cars.

A grand stand with seating capacity of over 2,000 people is available and every seat is expected to be taken for the first meet on the new track. The oval is hard-surfaced and well oiled to keep down the dust. It is three-tenths of a mile in length.

THE ENTRIES

Visiting drivers and the cars they will drive follow: Johnny McDowell, driving Glen Shaw's special; Adolph Danz, with Mario Bianchi's car; Jim Welburn, driving Earl Brunk's racer; Van Setteman, at the wheel of his own car; Ernie Spindler, in charge of Don Alsup's special; and Dave Dippell, with his own racing job.

Victoria cars entered in the opening meet include: Phil Foster's special, with Jimmie Laird at the driver's seat; Jimmie Laird's car, with John Wright at the controls; Lloyd Volo, driving his own machine; Jack Smith's and Ed Allen's specially constructed racers, and Tommy Jones and Bert Sutton, driving their own automobiles.

Toronto, June 4.—The good luck mascot of New York Americans is lost and there is some consternation. The one-year-old fox terrier pup owned by Carl Voss was a dressing-room favorite of Red Dutton's Amerks in their stretch drive to the National Hockey League play-offs last spring. The pup wandered away from the Voss home.

MOORE LEADS BIG CATCHES

Lands Twenty-nine-pound Spring Salmon in Goldstream Bay

The largest salmon landed to date at Saanich Arm, a twenty-nine pounder, was hooked yesterday afternoon by Frank Moore in Goldstream Bay, after a fierce half-hour struggle.

Mr. Moore, a member of the Victoria Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and the holder of a bronze button by being short one pound. He was fishing deep, with 400 feet of wire line out, when the strike came, and his lure was a large pearl abalone.

Len Holyoak got six springs, the biggest of which was nineteen and half pounds. He was using a Mahatma Gandhigram. A. S. Denny and party, fishing off the west side of the island yesterday, returned with ten bluebacks averaging between two and four pounds. They also reeled in a twenty-pound spring. Their lures were number five Silver Wonder spoons.

A six and one-half-pound trout, the biggest ever known to have been caught in the Lower Campbell River, was landed the other day. Fly fishing is good in the evening, but best success at all times is being had by trolls.

The winning hit proved to be Lou Bradley's two-bagger in the twelfth inning. Bert Simpson, operating on the slab for the winners, was nicknamed for six scattered bingles. He fanned seven. From the offerings of Westgate the Bruins smashed out twelve safeties.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

With a strong desire to seek out some distant land and make himself its ruler.

Bound for an around-the-world voyage on an English sailing ship about 1888, he set foot on the land of his dreams when he went ashore on the lonely and uninhabited island of Trinidad, 700 miles off the coast of Brazil. Remaining there, he proclaimed himself king and raised his own royal banner.

Several governments, including Brazil, were quick to recognize his legal rights on the grounds that he had fought and won seventeen major duels.

Displaying rather eccentric tendencies, he became an ardent Royalist, finally being overwhelmed government, King Hickey went to New York where he opened a foreign office and was in the process of outfitting a schooner in 1895 to take settlers to his domain when he learned his reign had come to an end. Great Britain had seized Trinidad for a cable station, nearly causing a war between herself and Brazil.

Heartbroken, Hickey was later offered the throne of the Hawaiian Islands by its Royalist party but refused so he could devote his time to planning an invasion of England. All his plans failing him, he committed suicide in El Paso, Texas, on February 9, 1898.

Victoria Hoopsters May Go to Olympics

Art and Chuck Chapman and Doug Peden May Travel With Windsor Fords If They Pay Own Expenses; Tony Osborne and John Purvis Also Probables

Vancouver, June 4.—Four British Columbia hoop stars, three from Victoria and one from Vancouver, may make the trip to Berlin Olympic Games with Windsor Fords, Canadian representatives, but will do so at their own expense, Walter Hardwick announced here yesterday evening.

The president of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association said inclusion of the British Columbians had been suggested by Dominion and Windsor hoop officials as a means of strengthening Fords, Canadian representatives, who defeated Victoria Dominions this spring for the Canadian crown.

Those suggested for the trip are Art and Chuck Chapman and Doug Peden of Dominions and Bob Osborne, captain of the Vancouver Province squad which lost out to the Victorians in the provincial final, Hardwick said.

"However, personnel of the Canadian Olympic team rests entirely with the Windsor management and no decision is expected for a week or ten days."

FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES

"Gordon Fuller, manager of the Fords, asked for available data on British Columbia players who might be able to finance their own way to Berlin. This has been forwarded to him."

There was no desire to create an all-star Canadian team, Hardwick explained, but said addition of Coast players was suggested after Fuller advised Windsor was having difficulty in raising finances for their entire team.

U.S. Net Squad Off to England

Sailing with them were John Van Ryn, veteran doubles star, and Hal Surface, rising young Kansas City youngster, who also will compete at Wimbledon.

In addition to the four British Columbians already recommended, Hardwick said it was also suggested John Purvis, also a member of last year's Province squad, might be able to make the trip.

Play Leading Roles in Success of New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals in Major Baseball; DiMaggio on Rampage Again Yesterday

Although it is still too early to predict that their managers will love them in September as they did in May and June, the slugging prowess of Yankee Joe DiMaggio and Cardinal Stu Martin appears to have those two youngsters ticketed as the class of the 1936 rookie crop.

Their extra base belting has them batting in or around the coveted .400s, and has been doing a lot toward keeping the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals at the top of their respective leagues.

Both have been breaking up ball games with their stickwork.

Only yesterday, DiMaggio, who came up from the Coast League last spring as the most highly publicized rookie in the history of the business, clubbed out a triple with the bases loaded, and a single, also with men on base, to break the hearts of the aching Chicago White Sox and give the Yankees an easy 11 to 1 win.

At the same time, Martin, a product of Asheville, N.C., was hammering out a single and triple to pace the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7 to 3 victory over Brooklyn.

GIANTS-SOX WIN

The second place outfits, however, also won their games. The Boston Red Sox downed the Cleveland Indians, 6 to 2, with a five-run spurge in the seventh, and Hal Schumacher limited the Chicago Cubs to three hits while his New York Giant mates made all their runs in the first inning for a 3 to 0 win.

The Boston Reds, with Bob Reis doing an effective job of relieving-pitching as well as singling home the winning run in the eleventh inning, nosed out the Pittsburgh Pirates 4 to 3; the Washington Senators found the going easy for a 7 to 4 conquest of the hapless St. Louis Browns, and the supposedly-weak Philadelphia Athletics surprised the world champion Detroit Tigers 11 to 7, despite homers by Goose Goslin and Ervin Fox. The Phillies and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

COAST LEAGUE

Oakland's baseball club climbed back into solitary possession of the top spot in the Coast League without swinging a bat.

The low San Francisco Giants, who surprised the Seattle Indians out of a first place tie with Oakland, 6 to 3, while the Seals broke the threat of the Mission Reds to 1.

Yesterday was very much of a pitcher's day, southpaw Wally Hebert starting the parade by driving in San Diego's first run and hurling five-hit ball to set Los Angeles down 5 to 1, and end the padres' losing streak.

At San Francisco, little Ken Gahan went him one better, allowing the Reds only four safeties. Joe Marty, who is just about half the Seals' team, got back into the line-up. In five times at bat he got a triple, a double and two singles.

John Chamberlain, Sacramento hurler, allowed the Indians ten scattered hits, which proved good enough when Jim Grilk broke up Dick Barrett's fine pitching by hitting a homer with one on in the eighth. Barrett allowed only seven hits, but five of them were in the fourth two innings and were interspersed with mistakes. He struck out twelve Senators and walked half a dozen.

PLUMMER TO MEET KENNEDY

Toronto Grappler Will Battle Matman From Oklahoma Here Saturday

Lou Plummer, 240-pound Toronto grappler, who made such an excellent hit with followers last week, will return to the Tillicum gym on Saturday evening to do battle in the main event.

His opponent will be Jack Kennedy, wrestler from the ranks of Oklahoma cowboys, who weighs 220 pounds. Kennedy made his debut in the game seven years ago in the welterweight division and has since developed into a full-fledged heavyweight and should make a good opponent for Plummer.

In his bout last week with Tony Catalano, whom he defeated with straight falls in the third and fourth rounds, Plummer had the fans with him all the way, and his victory over the Italian was a popular one. The bout promises to be a good one, for both lads are well versed in the tricks of the trade. They will fight over the route of eight ten-minute rounds, or the best of three falls. Promoter Fred Richardson is now looking around for two good men for the semi-main event. Two local grapplers will exchange grips in the opener at 8:45 o'clock.

SCHMELING IN PERFECT TRIM

German Heavyweight's Condition Praised By Champion Jim Braddock

Napponch, N.Y., June 4.—James J. Braddock, the heavyweight boxing champion, watched Max Schmeling go through his paces yesterday and predicted the German will make things interesting for Joe Louis in the Yankee Stadium June 18.

"Max looks pretty good," said the champ. "He's in top physical condition and he's hitting better. He's sharpened up his right a lot since I saw him."

"Will Max make trouble for Louis?" someone asked.

"I don't know about that, for I haven't seen Joe box and I don't know how to take these stories about his poor condition," replied Braddock. "But I know that the Schmeling I saw today is capable of putting up an interesting fight with anyone."

The Teuton stopped six fast rounds with Jerry Pavlik, Jerry Johnson and Heinz Kohlhass. He was not even slowing at the finish.

Vancouver All-star Selections Go East

Vancouver, June 4.—Three star cricketers of Vancouver, Dave Carey, Norman Pearson and Wally Scott, chosen on the all-Canadian cricket team which will tour England this summer, will leave here on Monday for the east.

"The team will play 'test' matches in Toronto and Montreal before leaving for England."

Annual P.N.W. Golf Championships At Vancouver This Month

Kenny Black Is Ranking Choice For Men's Title

Tournaments Are Scheduled June 22 to 27; Will Draw Big Entries

LARGE WOMEN'S FIELD FOR U.S.

Vancouver, June 4.—A sun-tanned, stocky young golfer who went to the finals of the Canadian amateur championship in 1933—there to be beaten 3 and 2 by Albert (Scotty) Campbell of Seattle—will be the ranking favorite when outstanding golfers of California, Oregon, Washington and British Columbia tee off at Point Grey and Country Club, Vancouver, June 22 to 27, in the thirty-eighth annual Pacific Northwest Golf Association championships.

He is Kenny Black, twenty-three-year-old son of D. L. "Dave" Black, well-known professional of the Shaughnessy Heights Club.

Young Black has literally been "burning up" Vancouver fairways in recent competitive tests, establishing a new amateur record of 67 in winning the qualifying medal of the club championship at his home course last week. En route to the finals, where he breezed past Brian Hopkins, four-handicap golfer, by 9 and 8, Black posted two 60's. Par for the 6,600-yard course—where first three days of the women's P.N.W. will be played—is 71.

FAMILIAR WITH COURSE
Black is also familiar with the Point Grey layout, playing many best-ball rounds there with father Dave against the home professional, genial "Dunc" Sutherland, and other outstanding amateurs.

Sutherland, who has been getting up at 6 o'clock every morning for the last two months to make a tour of inspection of his verdant fairways and greens, predicts that northwest golfers will "have their moments" when they tour the par-71 layout in the P.N.W. tourney this month.

"I don't think my course record of 65 will be in danger," said the popular "Dunc" at a nineteenth-hole session the other day, "but I'll certainly take my hat off to the American boys if they can do the trick."

Grass between fairways on the Point Grey course has been allowed to grow so that faulty hooks or slices from the tee will be penalized. Bunkers have been well sanded, giving fair warning that golfers will have to be good with the niblicks if they want to save shots around the greens.

Point Grey, which is noted for its wonderful "lies" on the fairway, is, generally speaking, a flat course. But the holes are of wide variety, there being three dog-legs and one sporty little hole which calls for a perfect 100-yard pitch over a ravine.

The first hole stretches 555 yards straight down the middle of the course and is a par five.

LOTS OF LENGTH
Ample reason for Sutherland's prediction that "no course records will be broken" during the P.N.W. may be seen in the fact that six of the par-four holes on the course are 400 or more yards in length. There are four tricky par-three holes, two of which range around the 200-yard mark.

While Dunc Sutherland is putting finishing touches on his course, an energetic executive committee headed by W. S. Charlton, president; Scott Henderson, vice-president; F. P. Archibald, secretary, and E. H. Cotter, treasurer, looks forward eagerly to what is hoped will prove one of the most successful tournaments in the history of the P.N.G.A. Subcommittees have been appointed for transportation, entertainment ways and means and greens; gallery tickets have been printed and a sales drive begun.

Entry of thirty golfers from Portland and a like number from Seattle assures the success of the women's meet at the assisting club, Shaughnessy Heights. Included in the women's executive are Mrs. C. J. Handley, Mrs. J. A. Dowling and Mrs. D. M. Jack of Portland; Mrs. H. B. Paige of Bellingham; Mrs. W. F. Finn of Seattle; Mrs. L. A. Johnson of Tacoma; Miss Kay Farrell, Mrs. S. C. Sweeney and Mrs. E. C. Stark of Vancouver.

Spencers Take Soccer Trophy

Defeat James Bay Wanderers 4 to 1 to Win Rennie and Taylor Cup

Although outplayed for a good part of the game, Spencers, Wednesday Football League champions, scored four goals to James Bay Wanderers' one to lift the prized Rennie and Taylor trophy yesterday afternoon at the Athletic Park.

The Diamond 8 boys won the match on their ability to make the most of their opportunities for scoring.

Spencers took the lead twice in the opening period and then rang up two extra goals in the second half. They broke into the scoring three minutes from the start of play when Williams hooked his shot over the heads of the defence and into the Wanderers' goal. The James Bay lads had plenty of opportunities to score but when they got close to the net their shots went astray.

A CLOSE CALL
Wanderers came back following Spencers' first goal, the attack ending when Tommy Belford missed the goal by inches. His shot scraping the crossbar, Spencers took advantage and Sandler stopped a low one from Bobby Brown that resulted in a corner.

Tommy Belford tied the score with a sizzling drive sixteen minutes from the start of play. It was too hot for Stewart to handle, the shot going into the corner of the net.

A free kick was awarded Spencers just outside the penalty area and Sandler tipped Moir's high drive over the bar and then saved from the corner kick.

Stewart saved from White on the subsequent change in play and Belford was caught offside with the department store goals out of his net. Ball's kick on a corner shot conceded by Moir was punched out from the touch line.

Ten minutes from the interval Shorty Collins scored with a high-kick shot. Fighting hard to tear the lead the Wanderers rallied as the end of the half approached but could do nothing against the department store defence and the half-time whistle blew as Stewart prepared to take a goal kick.

Spencers broke fast from the kick-off and widened their lead to two goals not half a minute from the resumption of play when Wally Stewart headed the ball home from across by Browne. Spencers settled down to defend their lead for the rest of the game with the Wanderers vainly trying to score.

The Diamond 8 boys broke away late in the game on a fast run and Collins scored the final goal when he took Stewart's pass and shot to the corner of the net.

D. McMillan refereed. The teams were:
Spencers—Stewartson, Munro, Cann, L. Bradley, Moir, R. Bradley, Browne, Clarke, Williams, Collins and Stewart.

Expect Nine Will Start At Belmont

Small But Select Field For $25,000 Added Stakes on Saturday; Granville and Brevity Are Expected to Provide Main Competition; Former Will Be Favorite

New York, June 4.—The hard-luck horses of the year, William Woodward's Granville and J. E. Widener's Brevity, will attempt to shake off the jinx Saturday in the sixty-eighth running of the $25,000 added Belmont Stakes.

Although rated among the best of the three-year-olds, neither has won an important race since the opening of the northern season. They both bowed to Bold Venture in hairline decisions and now are the favorites to fight it out for the divisional crown with the winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness on the sidelines for the remainder of the season.

Granville captured an overnight event in his seasonal debut at Jamaica and then ran into a series of reverses that has earned him the name of "Granville The Second." He lost to Teufel, a stablemate, by a head in the Wood Memorial, bowed to Bold Venture by a nose in the Preakness and dropped a decision to Firehorn by a like margin in the Suburban Handicap. In between, he lost his rider in the Kentucky Derby.

Brevity has not been so active since romping off with the Florida Derby in what was then world-record equalling time for one and one-eighth miles. He suffered interference at the start of both the Kentucky Derby and the Withers. He was good enough to overcome the difficulties and take second place in both.

NO EXCUSES
Neither should have any excuse in the Belmont. The race will be run over one and one-half miles, a distance that will require not only speed but stamina. Not more than nine are expected to start, thus furnishing each plenty of racing room.

On the basis of his fine showing in the Suburban, in which he conceded weight to older opponents, Granville probably will be a slight choice over Brevity. Then, too, Granville will have Teufel, a fast closing colt from the Wheatley Stable, as running mate. White Cockade, another stablemate, originally was slated to complete the triple entry, but the return of an old knee ailment will keep him in his stall.

Of the others, only C. V. Whitney's Red Rain is given much of a chance of beating either Granville or Brevity. Red Rain ran a disappointing race in the Withers, but should improve in the Belmont as he is a colt that has a desire for plenty of distance.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Memory Book, Hal Price Headley's Holyrood and Corundum, Mrs. Marion Dupont Somerville's Transporter and Warren Wright's Count Moore are expected to complete the field.

Believed to have been killed by lightning on his father's farm near Merritt, the remains of Keith M. Berkeley, sixteen-year-old youth, were the subject of investigation yesterday by Provincial Police. Officers expressed the opinion he had been killed during an electrical storm between 2 and 3 o'clock Tuesday. The body was badly burned.

On the grounds that W. A. Brethour had assigned his claim to E. L. Tait and there was no proof of assignment, the court that Mr. Tait had waived his claim, an action of Mr. Brethour against Herbert S. Clements was dismissed by Mr. Justice Murphy in Supreme Court this morning. Mr. Brethour claimed a solicitor's lien for costs of a fund in the hands of the U.S. Fidelity and Guaranty Company following litigation in connection with the Westholme Lumber Company.

Evidence was concluded this morning in the action of Kabul Singh, who is suing Beru in the County Court before Judge Lampan for $555 advanced in connection with legal proceedings against Beru, who was convicted under the Opium and Narcotics Drug Act. # Laurier Club Backs McDowell Campaign

Eight Speakers Endorse Candidate at Luncheon Rally Held in Appreciation of Special Significance of By-election

Eight speakers gave their support to the Liberal candidate, C. J. McDowell, in the Victoria by-election at a luncheon held today by the Laurier Club in Spencer's dining-room. The meeting was attended by seventy from the ranks of business men and the professions as well as campaign workers.

The club's attitude was explained by A. D. Macfarlane, K.C. president and chairman. "The Laurier Club is not usually a campaign organization," he said. "It is mainly an organization for the entertainment of eminent visitors to the city. But we feel that this is a different type of election. We feel that we are fighting the battle of Victoria—a battle for recognition."

"We want to make ourselves real enough for Ottawa to know that Victoria is demanding recognition," Mr. Macfarlane expressed the tribute to the club to the memory of the late D. B. Plunkett, M.P., and of B. C. Nicholas, whom he described as a councillor and guide for many years.

The chairman, as did several of the other speakers, referred to the active support of the Twentieth Century Young Liberals' Association and the women's organization in the present campaign.

C. J. McDOWELL
"I make no political promises, but I think I know conditions in Victoria, and I pledge myself, if I am elected, to do all I can in the best interests of Victoria," said Mr. McDowell.

The issues in the present campaign, he said, were twofold. The first was whether or not the people would endorse the policies of the present Liberal government. The second was whether or not they would do so for themselves. "After thanking the young people's and ladies' organizations for their active support, he appealed to the business and professional men present to make personal contacts in favor of the election of a Liberal member for Victoria."

OTHER SPEAKERS
H. A. Davey found the enthusiasm of Liberal voters and Liberal workers throughout the city augured well for Mr. McDowell's success. He said the readiness of the response which he had found everywhere from volunteer workers had made the task of campaign organization much easier. Mr. Davey gave special mention to Mrs. Rex Eaton of Vancouver for her support, which, he said, was a personal tribute to the qualities of the candidate.

FRANK HALL
Frank Hall, speaking on behalf of the Twentieth Century Young Liberals, said he believed the young people of Victoria were unanimously behind the Liberal campaign. This unanimity had both gratified and surprised him. The response of young voters was everywhere favorable.

Harold M. Digson, just back from England, told of the feeling which he and there was no proof of assignment, the court that Mr. Tait had waived his claim, an action of Mr. Brethour against Herbert S. Clements was dismissed by Mr. Justice Murphy in Supreme Court this morning. Mr. Brethour claimed a solicitor's lien for costs of a fund in the hands of the U.S. Fidelity and Guaranty Company following litigation in connection with the Westholme Lumber Company.

Although there was no conception in England of the extent of the problems faced by Canada, reasoning that there was no change for the better in last October's federal election. Mr. M. McGivern suggested that the Laurier Club, instead of being "the senate of the Liberal Party in Victoria," should come forward and interest itself more actively in party organization. He expressed his appreciation of their work in the present campaign.

C. H. O'Halloran, Mr. McDowell's campaign manager, expressed pleasure at the splendid support from Liberal workers throughout the city under the chairmanship of E. W. White, and from lady workers and the young friends of the party. These last he referred to as "young men and women whom I think we shall hear great things from in the future."

"They realize," he added, "that if Victoria is to progress and realize its opportunities, they must have the development of the things which are at the city's doorstep."

"The time has come—there is a real opportunity before us—to do something in a very definite fashion to bring in a forceful way before the power that be at Ottawa the necessity of the development of Victoria. That power lies in the election of Mr. McDowell," Mr. O'Halloran said.

H. H. Shandley believed there was no doubt that Mr. McDowell would be elected if the full Liberal vote was turned out. He asked those present to help in bringing out that vote.

Former Net Champ Loses Court Case

The action for damages for Lily Barnes, young Victoria tennis player, crippled in a motor accident at Nanaimo last June, was dismissed by Mr. Justice Murphy in Supreme Court yesterday. Miss Barnes claimed $10,000 general damages and $5,000 special damages from Albert E. Bradshaw, Nanaimo miner, as a result of an accident when a motorcycle on which she was a passenger collided with defendant's car. Mr. Justice Murphy held that the trouble was caused by the driver of the motorcycle.

VISITORS AT ROCKERY CLUB

American Gardeners Have Tea With Executive; See Three Gardens

Visitors here for the garden week were entertained at tea today by the executive of Rock Garden Society of Victoria in the club's rooms at the Beach Hotel. Previously they had visited the gardens of Mrs. C. J. Coultas, 237 King George Terrace; Mrs. Hugo Beaven, 1176 Beach Drive, and Mrs. Gordon F. Hepburn, 1420 Beach Drive.

The visitors were particularly interested in the garden of Mrs. Coultas, which has only been half finished and when completed will cover two and one-half acres. Mrs. Coultas also has an excellent collection of native and foreign rock plants, which she has herself gathered in various parts of the province.

A modern rockery, built by one of the professional gardeners in Victoria, was the chief interest for the American visitors at the home of Mrs. Hepburn.

This evening, as a variation to the garden theme, Dr. Ian MacTaggart Cowan will speak on "Totem Pole Indians of British Columbia" in the Empress Hotel.

The garden party today was joined by W. M. Francis and Mrs. Francis, from Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Francis is a keen gardener and a member of his community horticultural club. He is manager of the southern department, Hartford Boiler Insurance Company.

HAVE TEA ON SEA SHORE
Yesterday a party of gardeners were entertained by Prof. and Mrs. E. M. Straight and the North and South Saanich Horticultural Society at a strawberry tea in the Dominion Experimental Station park at Saanichton. The visitors were thrilled at having tea on the sea shore.

What struck some of the Californians most was the thick rich Jersey cream that was served with the strawberries. They never got cream like that, they said, because all their milk was pasteurized. Following the tea, they were shown around the experimental station.

On the way to the farm the visitors dropped in at "Inglebrook," garden of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waddell, at the corner of Maplewood Avenue and Tattersall Drive, and "Strangewood," garden of Col. S. L. and Mrs. McGowan, Gordon Head.

The two-acre Waddell garden, which is worked entirely by the owners, was of great interest to the tourists. The roses were at their best and many of the visitors took photographs of them.

MINISTER BACK FROM INTERIOR

Concluding a three weeks' trip through the interior of the province and a visit to Calgary to attend the Western Canada Livestock convention, Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, returned to his desk at the B.C. Legislative Buildings this morning.

The minister attended functions and agricultural meetings at various points in the province and addressed the convention at Calgary briefly. Informally he discussed marketing with agricultural ministers of Alberta, and Saskatchewan. Suggestions have been made that the western provinces get together on a co-ordinated marketing policy, but nothing of a concrete nature was discussed, he said.

Dr. MacDonald intimated that further movement toward provincial marketing schemes must await the decision by the Supreme Court of Canada on the validity of the entire marketing legislation.

The minister reported crop prospects in the interior promising and noted an improved optimistic feeling among the residents.

Returning he was forced to switch his schedule several times because of transportation facilities disrupted by floods.

Each summer the C.P.R. operates a telegraph office at its hotels for the convenience of guests and to facilitate the dispatch of wire business. She was introduced to the hotel staff and newspapermen today by Jack Hickey, manager of C.P.R. telegraphs here.

"I believe I am going to like it here," said Miss Goss, as she opened the telegraph key. "I have been told this is going to be a busy travel season. Well, that will please me, for I wouldn't be happy unless I was busy."

Miss Goss comes here from Vancouver. She has been a student of the Morse code ever since she left school and that was but about six years ago.

The trek from Denver to Victoria continues. The latest visitors to arrive from the Colorado city are Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Mesley, who have joined the Denver colony staying at the Empress.

VIENNESE STAR AT THE ATLAS

"The Student's Romance," which is being shown at the Atlas Theatre, starting today, was directed by Otto Kanturek, the famous continental cameraman who won fame for his lovely photography of "Blissom Time" and "Abdul the Damned."

It is a gay love story of life in the famous university centre in the middle of the last century, when young men fought duels at the slightest provocation and princesses had to marry at their father's command.

The film takes a slice right out of the lives of these students and brings to the screen the joyous and care-free days of youth and chivalry.

"The Student's Romance" has a happy lyrical quality about it that cannot fail to charm the viewer.

Grete Natzler, fascinating Viennese actress, has the leading role. Patrie Knowles, handsome youngster who has played in several films for B.I.P., is her leading man.

In the second feature, "We're Only Human," Preston Foster stars as a detective sergeant.

Fine Cast At Plaza Theatre

"King of Burlesque," Starring Jack Oakie, Alice Faye and K. Baker Here Today

In the colorful, glittering atmosphere of the burlesque theatre, with its songsters, songs, clowns and comics, the action of the new Fox picture, "King of Burlesque," which comes today to the Plaza Theatre, takes place.

Warner Baxter heads the cast of this picture, which includes Alice Faye, Jack Oakie, Arline Judge, Mona Barrie, Gregory Ratoff, Dixie Dunbar, Kenny Baker, Fats Waller and Nick Long, Jr., among the featured personalities.

Although the picture is a revealing glimpse into the gaudy world of burlesque, it does not confine its action to backstage drama, but launches into the life story of a genius of the theatre, played by Baxter.

With his two trusted aides, Alice Faye and Jack Oakie, Baxter has climbed from side street honky-tonks to Broadway's glittering palaces. Then when he falls in love with a lovely society woman who represents everything he had hoped to attain, he deserts his erstwhile friends.

Also being shown in the second feature on this programme are Peggy Conklin and Edward Edward Horton in "Her Master's Voice."

"Rhodes" Will Be Shown Here

A fascinating character and a brilliant career from real life are dramatically recreated in "Rhodes," the Diamond Master, the GB film starring Walter Huston, which comes to the Dominion Theatre tomorrow.

Based on the book, "Cecil Rhodes," by Sarah Gertrude Millin, the panoramas of the South African diamond fields and the jungle void is brought to the screen in all its vivid and thrilling drama.

No velvet varied talents, and in "Rhodes" he adds fresh laurels to his already outstanding and enviable record on stage and screen.

His portrayal is brilliant in its careful rendering of the characteristics of Cecil Rhodes — his majesty, his persuasive personality, his forcefulness, his power.

Columbia Stars Ricardo Cortez

There have been plenty of "mystery men" in Hollywood but because of his utter frankness, Ricardo Cortez, who for once is playing a heroic role in the Warner Bros. production, "The White Cockatoo," which opens at the Columbia Theatre today, remains the greatest enigma of them all. He is unquestionably one of the most versatile and substantial actors on the screen, but amazes those with whom he comes in contact by exhibiting not one single trait of the actor.

He is considered one of the best-dressed men in motion pictures but shies away when the matter is brought up because he refuses to be classed as a "mannequin." He was groomed as a second Valentino, but he insists that his forte is playing "heavy" roles.

Also being shown in the second feature is John Wayne in "The Lawless Nineties."

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX--I note that you advise a girl not to marry a stingy man, but do girls differentiate between thriftiness and parsimony? Having for three years denied myself the simplest pleasures to gather together a small stake to set myself up in business, it is no small annoyance to me to have an impudent flapper express a frankly disappointed wonderment that I have not flattered her with a $5 corsage. If you think girls of this calibre are an exception, you are mistaken. If they have heaped the vaguest financial lesson from this depression, they certainly do not intend to let it affect the quality of the luxuries they expect from their men friends. There is stinginess, there is sensible economy and there is waste. A girl might do better to marry a man who refuses to fling away what little he has than to unite herself with a wastrel wearing rose-colored glasses and a snappy suit he cannot afford. FRUSTRATE.

Answer--Right you are, son. If you think for a minute that I am not an admirer and advocate of thrift you have, in the slang of the day, got me wrong. I consider it not only one of the most shining of all the virtues but also that it is the foundation stone on which character and achievement are built.

Show me a thrifty person and I'll show you a ne'er-do-well who never makes good at anything. A parasite. A borrower and a beggar. One who is without intention dishonest because in the end, when he has spent all of his money in riotous living, those who have saved must support him. Nothing worth while in the world could ever be done except for the thrifty people who have done without the things they wanted and saved until they were able to launch big enterprises.

But there is a great difference between stinginess and thrift. Thrift is spending just what you can afford to spend. Stinginess is doing without everything you can possibly do without in order to save every penny. It is going without all the beauty and pleasure and graciousness of life to put a few dollars in the bank. It is loving money better than anything else on earth.

It is the stingy man that I advised the girl not to marry, not the thrifty one. The thrifty husband gives to his wife freely, but he does not let her run him into debt. He makes her feel that his prudence is a protection to her so that she shall never come to want. The stingy husband rows with his wife over the bills. He makes her feel that he is begrudging her every clothes on her back and what she eats. He embitters her if she has to corkscaw every nickel she gets out of him, or if he denies her all the little luxuries that go so far to make life pleasant because he would rather see an entry in a bank book than to see her happy.

Of course, there are girls who are gaffers and who hold up men for everything they can get out of them, just as truly as if they were pointing a blue-nosed pistol at them instead of a pair of blue eyes. There are girls who have two or three birthdays a year and who are always hinting for wrist watches and diamond rings; girls who always have to go to the best places to dance and who can never get by a restaurant without remarking on how hungry they are; girls who always manage to jockey a man into a hot spot where he has to send money on them. But there are also girls who are considerate of a man's pocketbook and who even prefer to go places Dutch treat.

And there are men who have such Yale locks on their pocketbooks that they never take a girl out anywhere, not even to the movies, nor so much as bring her a bag of gumdrops or a ten-cent bunch of flowers. These are money on the women they like and most women are willing to be tied to the places the man can afford to take them and for him to bring them violets instead of orchids.

Only a woman, whether she be sweetheart or wife, likes to feel that what the man gives her he gives her generously and wishes it were more. Every woman wants a thrifty husband, but not a miserly one. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX--We are an able-bodied couple. My husband is employed, making quite good wages, but we think we could save a few dollars each month if we gave up our home and went to live with our son and his wife. They are in very moderate circumstances, have two little children and their home is small. Our daughter-in-law is a sweet girl, but would she secretly wish to be alone? Would she object to taking us in? A MOTHER.

Answer--The few dollars you would save by going to live with your son and his wife would not compensate you for the family row you will precipitate by doing so. You are on amiable terms with your daughter-in-law now. Stay that way by not going to live with her. It is easy to love people whom we only see occasionally, but it is hard not to get disillusioned with those whose every fault and folly we are brought into daily and hourly contact.

Of course, your daughter-in-law does not wish you to come to live with her, and, of course, she wants to be alone in her own house with her own husband and children and no outsider. Every woman in the world desires that. She regards her in-laws, and even her own mother, as an infliction. That is just nature and no reflection on either lady.

The children will get terribly on your nerves, no matter how much you love them. They will be noisy and troublesome and you won't agree with their parents about how they are raising them and there will be trouble enough. So my earnest advice to you is to stay in your own home and live your own life in your own way. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX--I am thirty-five years old and, as I am very lonesome, I would like very much to get married. I have thought of advertising in the hope that I might find some one who would marry me. Kindly advise me as to what action I should take. LONESOME.

Answer--Use a little common sense and try to visualize the kind of a man who would answer an advertisement for a husband. Men who are fit to marry don't get their wives that way. It is a lot better not to be married at all than it is to be married to the wrong sort of a husband. DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggily and the Money Box

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Company for you, my dear," said Uncle Wiggily to his wife as he opened the door of his hollow stump bungalow one afternoon. "And, by the way, I'll be home all night, if you don't mind."

"Of course I don't mind, my dear," said Mrs. Longears. "You may as well be home any time you please. Who is it now?" asked the lady as she stepped into the hall from the kitchen where she was helping Nurse Jane Fussy Wussy get supper ready.

"This is the collection dog," said Uncle Wiggily as he held the door open for the lame fellow. "I met him in the woods. He's lost."

Uncle Wiggily told how the dog had been collecting money to help build a shelter and hospital for sick animals.

"Oh, that's too bad," said Mrs. Longears when she heard how an auto had run over the collecting dog's paw.

"I don't so much mind being hurt," said the dog who's name was Wag because he had a tail that went that way. "But, I'm afraid, as I told you, Mr. Longears, my master may fear I have run away with this money in the box on my back."

"Is there much money?" asked Baby Bunt as she drew up a chair for the lame dog to sit in.

"Quite a bit," he answered. "But I should collect more. Only I don't see how I am going to. I'm lost, I'm lame and I don't know what to do. Oh, dear!"

"Cheer up," cried Uncle Wiggily in his jolly voice. "First we shall have supper. After a meal things will look brighter. And, by the way, I shall have thought of a way to help you."

"Cheer up," cried Uncle Wiggily in his jolly voice. "First we shall have supper. After a meal things will look brighter. And, by the way, I shall have thought of a way to help you."

But he was more cheerful after the supper. He laughed when Baby Bunt, Jinny and Jangle played some of their school games for him.

Then, while Nurse Jane and Mrs. Longears cleared the table and washed the dishes, Uncle Wiggily and the collection dog sat on the front steps talking over what was best to be done. Uncle Wiggily said:

"You shall stay all day in my bungalow tomorrow. Wag and let your sore paw get well. Sit here and rest. But what about collecting for the hospital?" asked the dog.

"I will do the collecting for you," said Uncle Wiggily bravely. "In the morning I shall start your collection box on my back. I'll hop to the city and take my stand as you did at a busy corner. The people who pass will drop money in the box on my back as they did when you had it. At night I will come back here. Next day you will be strong enough to go back to your master. I'll get my friend Mr. How Wow to show you the way."

"Oh, you are very kind," said the lame dog. He slept well that night in the hollow stump bungalow. Early in the morning

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel" FRIDAY, JUNE 4, 1936

Adverse planetary aspects are strong today, according to astrology. It is a day for caution and not auspicious for buying. Under this aspect the judgment may be inaccurate regarding financial transactions and political candidates. It is easy to be deceived and for this reason decisions should be postponed.

Conferences or interviews with persons who wield wide influence in business or politics are under a sinister direction of the stars at this time, when there will be much instability of mind, nations and encourage discord that may add to the danger influences already in vogue. Planetary summer signs today are very ominous. Merchandise, wholesale and retail, is subject to favorable conditions which promise a summer of first-rate trade for many lines of business.

An ominous real estate will be in demand. This is not an auspicious day for making investments. Farmers are likely to find major influences affecting certain crops. Pests will be numerous through the country. Summer signs today are very ominous. Merchandise, wholesale and retail, is subject to favorable conditions which promise a summer of first-rate trade for many lines of business.

The mind should be guarded against evil suggestions and malicious gossip at this time. There will be bitter criticism and misrepresentation affecting persons in every walk of life.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of mingled good and bad luck. Speculation should be avoided. For many, sudden strokes of good fortune are indicated. (Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

ISSUES REAL SAYS GORDON

C.C.F. Candidate Classes
Government of Canada
As Immature

"Just as long as we see the government making such feeble efforts to cope with a gigantic problem, there is an important issue before the electors. It is their place to introduce a type of control and purposeful development that will bring the country from backwardness to the status of a civilized nation," Professor J. King Gordon told an Oak Bay audience last night in Hampshire Road Sunday school.

Mr. Gordon denied the statement of one of the other candidates that there were no real national issues in the by-election, and that the electors would do better to consider their local problems.

"I think you will say that as long as between 400,000 and 500,000 are unemployed and other thousands cannot maintain a decent livelihood, as long as industry faces its present problems, and the people face insecurity, there are very real issues. They are not being met by the government nor challenged by the official opposition," he said.

GOVERNMENT IMMATURE
Dividing all people and societies into the classes of the immature and the civilized, Mr. Gordon ranked the present government of Canada in the former class.

He said that the government was trying to maintain the old and fallacious policy of laissez-faire, which had worked well until the coming of the great monopolistic financial and business structures, which had swamped the smaller concerns.

The government had had to come to the aid of business when it could not carry on under its own steam during the depression, but paradoxically it had taken a hand in interfering in government and turning it to its own interest.

ARRESTED DEVELOPMENT
Mr. Gordon spoke of the division in Europe between the countries in which development had been arrested and those which had continued the steady development of social intelligence.

In the first class he placed Germany and Italy, saying that their peoples had suffered the destruction of their freedom in an attempt to consolidate the old system for a short span before its final collapse.

In the second group, England, Sweden and Denmark, and outside Europe, New Zealand, were introducing proper planning more and more into their economic life, and were growing into the maturity to be expected of modern nations.

He pointed with hope to the beginnings of such tendencies in Canada, especially in the Maritimes, where the Cape Breton lobster fishermen had formed co-operatives and were opening up a field of education, and across the continent to British Columbia, which in the last election had been the strongest supporter of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

He urged the voters to show their enlightenment by backing the C.C.F. and the mature policies which it represented.

CANADA WATCHES VOTE
Mrs. Grace MacInnis, speaking in support of the candidate at the beginning of the meeting, told the audience that the eyes of Canada from coast to coast were on the result of the Victoria by-election.

The election of the Liberal candidate would mean endorsement for the policies of the present government, she said, and then analyzed those policies and found them wanting.

The Conservative candidate she classed as "one more in the long, long trail of silver haired former statesmen who did beautifully twenty-five years ago, but know nothing whatsoever about conditions since 1917."

Mr. Gordon said Mrs. MacInnis would go to Ottawa as a legislator, not a beggar. She believed the present position of Canada was largely brought about through the fact that the members of its Parliament were seeking local advantages instead of considering the problems confronting the nation as a whole.

Mrs. MacInnis scoffed at the two old line parties, saying "The Liberal Party is one that believes in a tariff that's not too high, and the Conservative Party is one that believes in a tariff that's not too low, and that's all the difference between them."

Miss W. Blackett was chairman at the meeting.

ZIONCHECKS IN WASHINGTON ON BICYCLE

Under mental observation in Gallinger Hospital, Washington, D.C., is Representative M. A. Zioncheck of Washington State. The Seattle legislator was taken to the hospital yesterday after a series of noisy incidents which included two visits to the White House in futile attempts to see President Roosevelt. When the above picture was taken, Zioncheck was staging one of his stunts. He was riding a new two-speed bicycle with his bride of a month on the handlebars. During the excitement last Saturday, Mrs. Zioncheck walked out of the apartment and disappeared. She remained secluded.

Covers may now be prepared for the first flight of the new German airship, Hindenburg, which is expected to leave Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany, May 6, arrive at Lakhurst, N.J., May 8, and leave for Germany the next day. Two new German Zeppelin stamps, showing the airship flying over the ocean, will be ready for use on this flight. The values will be 50 and 75 pfennig.

Covers for the trip, east or west, will be handled through the Zeppelin company's representative in New York, at a cost of 70 cents each, one way, for letters weighing not more than 3/4 ounce; 85 cents each for covers weighing not more than 1 1/4 ounce, and 65 cents each for postals. These rates include delivery in the United States.

To send such covers, going west, address them to yourself. For covers going east, address them to yourself, in care of "Deutsche Zeppelin Reederei, Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany," and be sure to have your return address on the cover.

Send all these, under separate cover, with a U.S. money order covering the total Zeppelin charges, to F. W. von Meister, 354 Fourth Avenue, N.Y. These covers and the orders should reach New York not later than April 22, although Von Meister will receive orders for covers, to be prepared for you in Germany, up to May 3.

Leave room at left of cover for special cachet. There will be no special U.S. stamps for this flight.

The charges quoted for carrying these covers include handling and forwarding expenses by steamer to and from Germany.

Leaders Named By Teachers

Officers Elected By Victoria and District Association

Prior to their annual meeting, members of the Victoria and District Teachers' Association met at dinner in Spencer's dining-room Tuesday evening.

The teachers took this occasion of endorsing by a standing vote a resolution proposed by Col. W. N. Winsby, "That we, the members of the Victoria and District Teachers' Association desire to place on record our appreciation of the great loss which the cause of education in this province, and more particularly in this city, has suffered in the untimely death of the late Ben C. Nicholas."

Reports of the work done in the last year and plans for the future were presented to the meeting. Miss Heritage, chairman of the research committee of the Provincial Elementary Teachers' Section, told of what had already been accomplished and introduced to the meeting H. W. Creelman and Miss M. Cameron, the provincial president and secretary of the elementary teachers.

The four delegates to the Eastern convention of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, W. McMichael, J. McKenzie, W. H. Wilson and the president, gave detailed accounts of the work accomplished by the Eastern convention. The general consensus was that this year's convention had indeed been worth while.

G. H. E. Green opened a discussion on library facilities for teachers and later spoke on curriculum revision, telling of the work of teachers actively engaged in teaching and of the use of the principles of the unit system.

In their reports of the year the president, Miss N. M. McKillop, and the secretary, Miss F. T. Brown, reviewed a successful year and expressed the confident hope of more accomplishments in the future. After the senior section of the local association had reported on its work during the year, Miss Louise Noble told of the steps taken to establish an intermediate and junior section and of what it had already accomplished.

The election of officers for 1936-37 resulted as follows: President, Miss N. M. McKillop; vice-president, Mr. G. H. E. Green; secretary, Miss F. T. Brown; executive, Mr. H. W. Creelman, Mr. J. McMichael, Mr. W. McMichael and Miss Margaret Cameron.

Mrs. R. Leighton and Mrs. C. Lindner have returned from a visit with the former's parents at Fanny Bay.

Close Strawberry Crop Competition
Meeting, June 4.—The strawberry crop competition held annually under the auspices of the South Saanich Farmers' Institute, resulted this year in one of the closest competitions ever held by the institute.

E. W. White, of the department of agriculture, made the awards as follows: First, C. E. Mullen, 89 points; second, C. F. Fox, 88 points; four competitors with 87 points tied for third place, and were as follows: W. Blackford, F. C. Mitchell, Tanner Bros. and H. Blackford. Other competitors were W. Holloway, 86 points; A. Sutherland, 86 points; J. J. Young, 72 points. All competitors entering the loganberry crop competition are asked to send entries to G. Spencer, Saanich P.O. within the next few days.

Unlike police in Spain, who made no attempt to halt recent disorders at Madrid, law officers in Greece battled mobs of strike sympathizers. Police are pictured in a furious struggle to disperse a stubborn crowd at Athens, vigorously wielding their truncheons.

Thieves Enter Saanich School

Police Will Watch Mount View High Building Following Losses

Saanich police were last night requested by the municipal school board to keep strict watch over the Mount View High School building, following reports of extensive losses through thievery during recent months.

School equipment, wheelbarrows, hose, pipes, taps and other smaller objects have been carried off, the board reported. The last entry to the school was over the Victoria Day holiday.

W. P. Jeune, chairman of the board, announced the trustees' intention of making every effort to trap the thieves and to prosecute to the limit of the law if they were apprehended.

A special watch will be kept over the lower windows of the building, through which it is believed entry was made.

Dr. Samuel Youden, schools dentist, reported to the board he had treated fifty-three students during the month of May. The value of the work was set at $55.95, of which $22.35 was collected.

A REAL MYSTERY
"The study of the occult sciences interests me very much," remarked the new boarder. "I love to explore the dark depths of the mysterious, to delve into the regions of the unknown, to fathom the unfathomable, as it were, and to—"

"Let me give you a little more of this stew," Mr. Smith, interrupted the landlady.

No. 1: "What are the sub-foreman's duties, Jack?"
No. 2: "He helps the foreman if he gets stuck for a word."
